Open interviews, name change opposed

Caucus' policy changes rejected

by BILL HILL

Moves to change the name of the Arlington Heights Caucus and to open its candidate interview meetings to the public were rejected Sunday night at the caucus' first public meeting.

About 70 residents attended the meeting at Miner Junior High School to consider proposed changes in by-laws and to select new officers and a candidate review committee.

The candidate review committee will now seek, interview and recommend candidates for village board positions in next April's election. Another public meeting will be called in January to vote for a final slate of candidates for the April ballot.

THE CAUCUS' philosphy is that "the office should seek the man," said Wallace Daughtry, who was elected caucus chairman and has organized this year's caucus meetings. "The only purpose of the caucus is to ensure at least one slate of qualified, competent candidates," he said.

Only a few residents supported a motion by Pat Carbery to change the name of the 20-year-old organization.

"I think the reason you have such a small crowd tonight is because you use the name 'caucus.' It has a bad connotation. When I saw the fliers (advertising the meeting), I said 'My God, that name will turn anyone off," Mrs. Carbery said.

RESIDENTS WHO objected to opening the meetings of the candidate review committee to the public said it would discourage residents from running from office and allow "electioneering" by candidates before the slating of candidates at the public meeting in January.

A motion to change the procedures for announcing the candidate review committee's recommendations was approved, despite several objections. The rules change requires that the committee announce its recommendations not more than four days but at least 1½ days before the public meeting in January. Previously, the recommendations were made public at least 10 days before the slate-making meeting.

A LETTER from Village Trustee Alfred Barboro, a caucus candidate in 1975, was read at the meeting. The letter stated his objections to the change, which is aimed at eliminating campaigning by candidates before they are slated.

The change will reduce greatly the amount of time voters will have to study the candidates, Barboro's letter stated.

Harold M. Klingner, caucus parlimentarian, said the rules change is needed to reduce publicity about the candidates.

"We have a problem with the caucus because we have been crucified unjustly by the press. We are a great target for them," Klingner said.

"Ten days gives unjust opportunity to the press to choose candidates for us. By having names published so far in advance, we have electioneering in a very sophisticated form," he said.

Klingner said the advance publicity also makes it easier for a candidate to "pack" the slate-making meeting. He referred to the 1975 meeting at which David Griffin was slated to run for village president over the two candidates recommended by the committee.

Downstate the miners believe 'things is worse'

Illinois Issues
How the people view the election

ILLINOIS ISSUES: The people of southern Illinois. The Herald teamed metropolitan staff writer Toni Ginnetti and photographer Dave Tonge for a 1,200-mile journey through the apple orchards and mining lands of Illinois' southernmost counties. Through words and pictures they relate what these Downstaters are concerned about in this election year. More pictures and another story on the people of Southern Illinois are on pages 4 and 5.

by TONI GINNETTI

SESSER — Floyd Hinkle found the good life when he became a miner.

That's what he'll tell you if you ask about his job.

Growing up on a farm in Anna had its good side, working in the fields "setting tomatoes and sweet potatoes." But when you marry and the family obligations grow, a good-paying job with regular hours and fringe benefits is something you don't pass up.

"I NEVER DREAMED of being a miner," says Hinkle, 33. "Hell, when we got married, I ran a fruit farm. In fact my brother still runs it back in Anna. And my dad still works on the farm there."

That's not for Hinkle any more. Life for the past five years has been his work at the Amax Coal Co. strip mine near Cutler, his home. Before that, there were stints working for the Du-Quoin County fairgrounds, a packing house, the fruit farm and a foundry.

Then came the call from a friend asking if he would want to work in mining. " 'Hell, yes,' I told him."

No more hit and miss working hours now. No more never having time to see your kids.

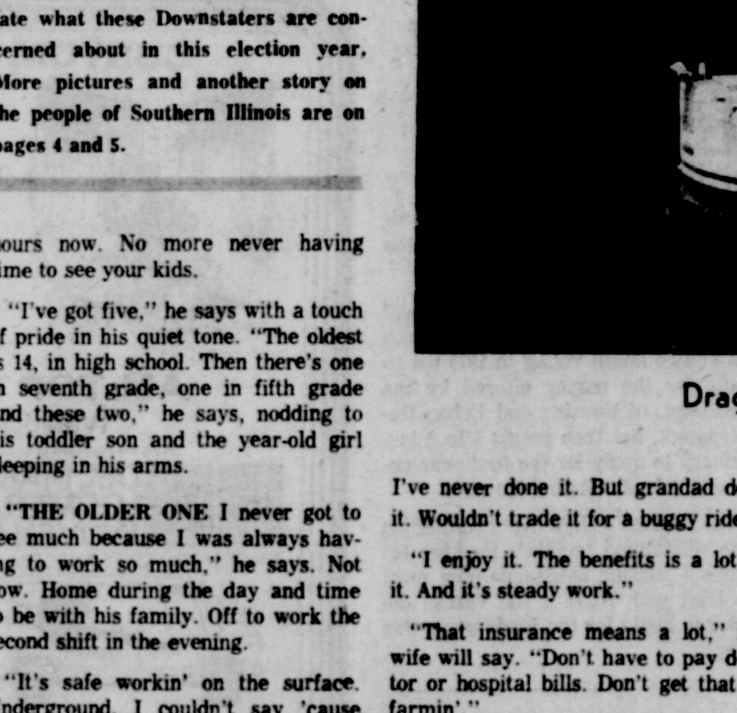

"I've got five," he says with a touch of pride in his quiet tone. "The oldest is 14, in high school. Then there's one in seventh grade, one in fifth grade and these two," he says, nodding to his toddler son and the year-old girl sleeping in his arms.

"THE OLDER ONE I never got to see much because I was always having to work so much," he says. Not now. Home during the day and time to be with his family. Off to work the second shift in the evening.

"It's safe workin' on the surface. Underground, I couldn't say 'cause I've never done it. But grandad does it. Wouldn't trade it for a buggy ride.

"I enjoy it. The benefits is a lot of it. And it's steady work."

"That insurance means a lot," his wife will say. "Don't have to pay doctor or hospital bills. Don't get that in farmin'."

Floyd Hinkle...inflation and fear of a strike.

"IT REALLY MAKES a lot of difference," Hinkle says. "There's good money in it, but if you don't work overtime and weekends, you wouldn't make any more than what a factory worker gets. About $250 a week. I sat down and figured it out once.

"So you put in a lot of overtime. Anything over 7¼ hours is overtime."

Hinkle doesn't own a television. No, he didn't see the presidential debates, he says. "I like to spend time with my children," he tells you.

"You don't see anyone too often campaignin' around the mines," he says. "The union, they got an endorsement. No, I don't know what it is."

HE SAYS THE biggest talk among miners right now is about the United Mine Workers of America, who's going to run it, and worse, about the dreaded spectre of a strike next year when the miners' three-year contract with the industry expires.

That is what Hinkle and his family fear now. "They're talkin' like it's comin'," Mrs. Hinkle frowns. "And there's talk it would be a long one. I hope not," she mumbles. "The last one was bad enough."

Ken McSparin remembers all too well the three-month-long coal miners' strike of 1974. "It was bad," he says shaking his head.

"You can't collect unemployment compensation. No strike fund in the union. You just try to save for it, that's all."

Mac has worked for the Harrisburg Coal Co. for 25 of his 58 years. He doesn't need another strike. Things are rough enough as it is.

"The cost of things is so high," he says. "People say we get that $100 (what a Saturday of overtime work can bring), but boy, it goes.

Proud miner, weary voter

"TEN YEARS AGO, I used to be able to buy a new car every year. Not no more. I bought a pick-up in 1970 for $3,600. I bought this one in 1975 and paid $5,800.

"They talk about miner's pay. Hell, masons, bricklayers, laborers, they all make more than we do. Things keep goin' up, but I guess it's got to stop sometime."

The miners aren't talking much about politics these days, Mac says.

"I don't think it'll matter much between them," he says of the presidential race between Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter. "None of them is for the middle class and the poor. We've never had a president for the poor people."

Mac likes what he does, operating the enloader that scoops the mined coal into eight-ton trucks for delivery to the processing plant. Maybe it's no cleaner than working underground, he'd say from behind his blackened countenance, but at least you can stand up straight while you work.

But this economy, it gets to him, making it tougher for a family man to keep up.

The "experts" say things are getting better.

Not Mac.

"Things is gettin' worse."

Cops seek robbers of Dunkin' Donuts

Police are seeking two bandits who robbed a Dunkin' Donuts restaurant in Mount Prospect of $282.19 Saturday night. Police said the thieves, armed with a sawed-off shotgun, entered the restaurant at 20 W. Northwest Hwy. shortly before 8 p.m. Saturday, ordered coffee and sat for five minutes before pulling the gun on the clerk. The bandits poured money from two cash registers into a bag, and fled in a car on Northwest Highway toward Arlington Heights, police said. Police described one of the robbers as in his late 20s, 5-feet-10, with a short black Afro-style haircut and a mustache. The other was described as in his late 20s, about 5-feet-6, 155 pounds, with a large black Afro-style haircut.

$3,000 in goods taken from firm

More than $3,000 in goods were stolen during the weekend from a Palatine trucking firm. Police said burglars cut a hole in a fence and pried open a warehouse door to enter Yellow Freight Lines, 419 W. Baldwin Rd. Stolen was clothing valued at $3,000 and two cartons of electric train sets of undetermined value. Police said the breakin took place between 6:30 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. Sunday.

Nike deed to arrive Tuesday

Presidential aides, federal bureaucrats and local park district officials plan to be at O'Hare Airport Tuesday at noon when an important piece of paper is unloaded from a jet. The paper is the deed to 26 acres of a former Nike Missile Base at Central and Wilke roads, where a $2 million golf course and storm retention facility will be built. President Ford will speak at the Woodfield Shopping Center, Schaumburg, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and tentatively is scheduled to present the deed to Arlington Heights Park Director Thomas Thornton at the Arlington Park Hilton, Arlington Heights. Details of the presentation have not been completed, but a Ford campaign official said there is a "very good possibility" the ceremony will take place.

Church marks 25th anniversary

Members of a Mount Prospect church Sunday morning returned to a village movie house to celebrate the 25th anniversary of their fellowship. The Rev. Amos Wilkie, sixth minister to serve the Community Presbyterian Church of Mount Prospect, 407 N. Main St., led his congregation in a recreation of the Oct. 28, 1951, service that launched their fellowship in the Prospect Theater, 18 S. Main St. in downtown Mount Prospect. The 132 members of the church who met for services in the theater during the early 1950s paid $20 a week to rent the building. The village then had a population of 4,200. Today 790 persons are church members. Their present sanctuary was built in 1956.

Minor injuries reported

Six hurt in rash of car accidents

Six Northwest suburban residents suffered minor injuries in a rash of weekend auto accidents in Arlington Heights, police reported Sunday.

All the injured were taken to Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, by village firefighters, where they were treated and released.

Allan I. Bierlein, 37, and his son, Brian, 8, both of 111 E. Burr Oak, Arlington Heights, were hurt at 6:17 p.m. Saturday when a car in which they were riding was struck by an auto driven by Steven R. Jendrzejek, 18, of Barrington, police said.

BIERLEIN REPORTEDLY received head and arm injuries, and he and his son were examined at the hospital, police said. Police ticketed Jandrzejek for driving too fast for conditions on rain-slicked Hintz Road.

Injured at 1:34 a.m. Saturday on Kennicott Avenue south of Maude Avenue were driver Linda S. Rickard, 24, of 901 Spruance P.., Des Plaines, and passenger Richard B. Corr, 19, of 1528 N. Kennicott Ave., Arlington Heights, police said.

Ms. Rickard and Corr suffered facial cuts after the car in which they were riding crashed into a parked car at 1525 Kennicott Ave., police said.

POLICE SAID Catherine M. Sikora, 30, of 1342 S. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights, received neck, head and side injuries after the car she was driving crashed into the rear of an auto driven by James R. Katzbeck, 38, of 201 Rosedale Ln., Hoffman Estates, on Central Road at Dryden Avenue at 5:47 p.m. Friday.

Police said 9-year-old Patricia E. Conroy, of 1407 W. Grove St., Arlington Heights, received mouth, knee and head injuries when a car driven by Susan M. Conroy, 17, same address, struck the rear of a car driven by Carl A. Fiantago, 45, of 201 Dundee Rd., Palatine, on Wilke Road south of Northwest Highway at 5:28 p.m. Friday.

Police said pedestrian Walter J. Keam, 29, of 15 N. Dryden Ave., Arlington Heights, received side injuries when he was struck by a car driven by Robert L. MacDonald, 61, of 604 N. Wilshire Ave., Arlington Heights, on Dryden Avenue at 4:15 p.m. Friday. No tickets were issued.

Nike base deed to arrive Tuesday

Presidential aides, federal bureaucrats and Arlington Heights Park District officials Tuesday will meet at noon at O'Hare Airport to watch a piece of paper being unloaded from a jet.

The paper is the deed to 26 acres of a former Nike Missile Base site at Central and Wilke Roads, where a $2 million golf course-storm retention facility will be built.

President Ford, who is scheduled to speak at Woodfield Shopping Center, Schaumburg, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, is tentatively slated to convey the deed to Parks Director Thomas Thornton at the Arlington Park Hilton.

The deed will be flown from the Office of the Solicitor in Philadelphia, where workers were on duty during the weekend finishing the paper work, said Maureen Reynolds, an assistant to U.S. Rep. Philip Crane, R-12th.

Ford's presentation has not yet been confirmed, but Arthur Falls, the executive director of the Pres. Ford Committee in Illinois, said there is a "very good possibility" the ceremony will take place.

The local scene

Park district meeting

The Arlington Heights Park District will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at Juliette Low School, 1530 S. Highland Ave.

Parks Director Thomas Thornton said the agenda includes discussion of possible annexation of land east of Frontier Park.

Panel to hear new chief

Robert Derks, who was sworn in as police chief last week, will make his first public appearance Wednesday at a meeting of the newly formed zero vandalism committee.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the village hall, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd., Mae Zimmack, committee chairwoman said.

"Chief Derks will speak on vandalism in Arlington Heights," said Mrs. Zimmanck, "and will answer any questions residents have about his view on what should be done about vandalism here."

Nielsen WIU queen

Judy Nielsen of Arlington Heights was elected 1976 homecoming queen at Western Illinois University, Macomb, last week.

She reigned over the Homecoming parade and football game Saturday.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nielsen, 116 S. Chestnut St.

Pam Sopchyk, also of Arlington Heights, was elected to the queen's court. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Sopchyk, 335 S. Forrest Ave.

Two receive title

Julie Drain and Pamela LeSeth, both of Arlington Heights, have been named Queen Guinevere of Arlington Heights by the Farmers Insurance Group of companies.

Both will enter the state contest. The state winner will compete in the national finals to select a queen for the company's float in the 1977 Pasadena Tournament of Roses parade on New Year's Day.

Miss Drain, an 18-year-old Illinois State University student, lives at 1830 N. Walnut Ave. Miss LeSeth, a 19-year-old Harper College student, lives at 1212 S. Chestnut Ave.

Theology talk Tuesday

Author and theologian the Rev. John Shea will discuss "Religious Growth and Self-Understanding" at Theology West at 9:15 a.m. Tuesday in the St. Edna parish center, 2525 N. Arlington Heights Rd.

Shea is the author of "The Challenge of Jesus" and teaches theology at Chicago archdiocesan seminaries.

Fee for the lecture is $3. Babysitting for children two and older is available for $1 per family.

No rain expected...

AROUND THE NATION: Snow mixed with rain at times will occur over the northern Rockies, while rain and showers will develop in most of the Gulf coastal states. Rain is also indicated in the Dakotas. Fair to partly cloudy elsewhere.

AROUND THE STATE: North: Cloudy and continued cool, high in the upper 40s. Tonight partly cloudy, colder, low in the upper 20s or lower 30s. South: Cloudy, high in the 50s, low in the mid 30s.

SATELLITE PHOTO taken at noon Sunday shows heavy overcast cloudiness over all of the East except for Maine and coastal sections of the south Atlantic states. The upper Midwest has low uniform clouds with some snowcover visible. A few shower and thundershower clouds are visible over Texas and New Mexico. Most of the West is clear except for the immediate coastal sections of the Pacific Northwest where a heavy frontal band of cloudiness has moved inland.

Public hearing set tonight on request for U.S. funds

The first of two public hearings on whether the Village of Arlington Heights should apply for U.S. Housing and Community Development Act funds totaling $295,000 will be at 8 p.m. today at the municipal building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

The second public hearing will be Nov. 23. The village board is scheduled to make a final decision on the federal grant in February.

The funds have been a controversial subject during the past two years with the village board voting in 1975 not to apply for the money offered by the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development, but then voting 5 to 3 last January to apply for the first-year entitlement funds totaling $134,000.

The village's housing commission also will attend tonight's meeting because a housing assistance plan must be filed with HUD if the village decides to apply for the funds again this year.

'Miracle Worker' slated Oct. 28-30

Rolling Meadows High School will present "The Miracle Worker" Thursday at 7:30 p.m., and Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the school theater, 2901 Central Rd., Rolling Meadows.

The drama by William Gibson depicts the story of Helen Keller, played by Maureen Donehey, overcoming her deaf and dumb handicaps with the help of her teacher Annie Sullivan, played by Mary Monroe.

Tickets cost $2, $1.50 and $1.75. Information is available by calling 259-9640.

N.Y. social club fire kills 25; arson eyed

NEW YORK (UPI)—A fire believed caused by a firebomb tossed by a disgruntled patron killed 25 persons and seriously injured 16 others at a Bronx social club in the early hours Sunday — New York City's worst building blaze in 18 years.

The club occupied the second floor of a building with first-floor stores and panicked patrons leaped screaming through the windows to the sidewalk when the sudden flames blocked exits.

Police searched for a man believed to have thrown a firebomb into the Puerto Rico Social Club shortly after he was thrown out during a heated dispute with a woman, possibly his wife.

Fire officials said the blaze, declared under control within 25 minutes, was the most lethal building fire since 1958 when 27 persons lost their lives in a lower Manhattan loft building.

With all exits blocked, patrons hurtled through the social club's second floor windows as the fire swept up from the downstairs doorway and through the 20-by-50-foot social hall.

"I saw people, their bodies charred, their clothes burned off," said Paula Dukes, who was passing by with a friend just after the two-alarm fire broke out at about 1:40 a.m. CDT. "They were in flames and stripping their clothes off trying to put the flames out."

"It was awful," said Police Officer Dennis P. Sullivan, who was among the first patrolmen to reach the scene where the panic-stricken survivors lay moaning on the street.

"We put four or five of them in our patrol car," he said. "Their flesh was smoldering. They were in shock. They were sick."

The dead — 10 men and 15 women — all were overcome by smoke, officials said. The bodies were found by a bar in the front of the club and in a rear bathroom.

"The fire must have spread like a bat out of hell and they didn't have a chance," said Cesar Sansevero, executive assistant to Fire Commissioner John T. O'Hagan.

The injured were taken to area hospitals suffering broken arms or legs from the fall and second and third degree burns. Several were reported in critical but stable condition.

O'Hagan said there was a "high probability" the fire was the result of arson. Witnesses reported seeing an object, possibly a bottle, thrown into the doorway of the building just before the blaze erupted.

One survivor said there were about 300 persons attending a dance in the club when the fire broke out. But another patron estimated the crowd at 78, a figure O'Hagan said "was much closer to reality."

Mayor Abraham D. Beame arrived on the scene at 5:30 a.m. and later visited survivors at one hospital with O'Hagan and Police Commissioner Michael Codd.

O'Hagan said preliminary indications were that the club, which was gutted by the fire, was operating without a license. The club stretched over four stores but none suffered much damage from the fire.

A NEW YORK policeman stands guard at entrance to Bronx social club as pine boxes are stacked to be used for removal of 25 bodies following 2-alarm blaze early Sunday. Officials are investigating a report the blaze may have been set by a man angry over being ejected from the club.

Ford woos California as Carter relaxes in Plains

by United Press International

President Ford fought Sunday to maintain his narrow lead in California, a state whose 45 electoral votes he said he "must win" in order to keep his job.

Jimmy Carter, claiming he's not taking anything for granted, began two days of rest and making television commercials in Plains, Ga. He, too, planned a last-minute swing through the nation's largest state to end his campaign next week.

Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss and Ford campaign manager James A. Baker III, each sounding like a football coach, claimed the campaign "momentum" is with his candidate. Each agreed Ford leads in California and Carter for New York's 41 electoral votes — the second biggest bloc.

Ford campaigned in the heavily conservative suburbs of Los Angeles and in San Diego.

He laid it on the line to GOP contributors in Pasadena, telling them: "For us to win this election it is critical that we win in California. California is a state that we must win." He urged them to "double, redouble and quadruple your efforts."

The President campaigned alongside actor John Wayne. But Ronald Reagan, his vanquished opponent in the fight for the GOP nomination, was conspicuously absent. Ford telephoned the former governor Saturday to ask the former governor to appear with him on a 30-minute statewide television commercial, but Reagan declined, citing "a prior commitment with campaign leaders which I believe is essential to your victory here in California."

Baker, appearing on ABC's Issues and Answers, said: "We're not unhappy with Governor Reagan's efforts on our behalf." He said Reagan "has been very helpful in our campaign."

"We think California is extremely close," Baker said. "We believe we're ahead there."

Strauss, appearing right after Baker on the same program, said: "We're not ahead in California. But it's close."

"We can lose a state here and a state there and still win," Strauss said, predicting that Carter's reported six or seven percentage point lead in national polls translates into "an electoral landslide." He forecast Carter would win 335 to 345 electoral votes.

Baker said Ford could win Virginia, Louisiana and Mississippi in the South, and identified New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio as "swing states" that are among 20 where the margin is "three points one way or the other." "What momentum there is out there is in our favor," Baker said. Strauss said, "The momentum is with us."

The eight states Carter plans to visit in his final trip beginning Tuesday have 208 of the 270 electoral votes he needs.

Carter statement dangerous: Kissinger

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger said Sunday Jimmy Carter, if elected president, would surely reconsider his "dangerous" statement that he would not go to war over Yugoslavia.

To declare Yugoslavia outside of American security interests "is inconsistent with the entire war policy of every Democratic and Republican administration, incompatible with the views of our West European allies and would be dangerous if it became American policy," Kissinger said.

"The art of foreign policy is to prevent crises from arising, and not to create ambiguities which the opponent might be tempted to probe," he said in an interview on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation" program.

HENRY KISSINGER

The secretary of state commented about Carter's statement in Friday's debate with President Ford, that: ". . . I would never go to war, become militarily involved in the internal affairs of another country, unless our own security were directly threatened. And I don't believe that our security would be directly threatened if the Soviet Union went into Yugoslavia."

Ford leads newspaper endorsements

by United Press International

U.S. newspapers are endorsing President Ford over Jimmy Carter by about a four-to-one margin, a spot check by United Press International showed Sunday.

Except for the New York Times and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, both of which endorsed Carter, almost all the best known big city papers that had endorsed a presidential candidate in the previous week chose Ford.

Their reasoning, in general, was that Ford is a known quantity and Carter is not. Rarely, however, were the editorials decidedly enthusiastic about one candidate over the other.

Most of the endorsements have been made since Oct. 15. In the relatively few before that date, Ford held a slight edge over Carter.

Ford won the editorial support Sunday of the New York Daily News, the Chicago Tribune, the Philadelphia Inquirer, the Houston Chronicle, the Miami Herald, the Baltimore Sun, the Baltimore News-American, the Dallas Times Herald and the Boston Herald-American.

Carter, in addition to the Times and the Post-Dispatch, was endorsed Sunday by the Minneapolis Tribune and the Staten-Osland Advance.

The Washington Post, the Washington Star, the Los Angeles Times, the Boston Globe and the Atlantia Constitution, among influential newspapers, have not made endorsements.

Others endorsing Ford Sunday included the Albuquerque Journal, the Tulsa World, the Tampa Tribune, the Tallahassee Democrat, the Tyler (Tex.) Courier Times and the Tyler Morning Telegraph, the Memphis Commercial-Appeal, the Salina (Kan.) Journal, the Oklahoma City Oklahoman, the Charlottesville (Va.) Daily Progress, the Winston-Salem Journal, the Galveston Daily News and the Great Falls (Mont.), Daily News.

In addition, at least seven newspapers from Carter's home state of Georgia endorsed the President Sunday. They included The Marietta Journal, the Albany Herald, the Augusta Chronicle and the Augusta Herald, the Savannah News and Savannah Press and the Rome News-Tribune. Earlier in the week, the Statesboro (Ga.) Herald endorsed Ford.

Carter won endorsements in the past week by the St. Petersburg Evening Independent, the Albany (N.Y.) Knickerbocker News, the Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser, the Minneapolis Star, the Lebanon (N.H.) Valley News and the Nashville Tennessean.

Earlier in the week, Ford was endorsed by the Ft. Lauderdale News — Sun, the Rochester (N.Y.) Democrat & Chronicle and the Rochester Times-Union, the Nashville Banner and the Manchester (N.H.) Union-Leader, whose publisher William Loeb said it was a choice between "stupid" (Ford) and "shifty" (Carter). "Better the fool we know than the devil we don't."

U.S., Viets confirm relations talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Henry Kissinger confirmed Sunday that Vietnam has accepted a U.S. proposal to begin talks aimed at improving relations between the two nations.

"That is correct," Kissinger replied, when asked by UPI about a report from the Vietnamese News Agency in Paris that Vietnam officials have accepted U.S. proposals for an "exchange of views" between the former enemies.

Kissinger, who commented as he was leaving a television studio, would not disclose any details.

A spokesman at Vietnam's embassy in Paris said the talks would cover "problems interesting both parties." He did not indicate when or where the talks could take place.

"It is appropriate to point out that such a meeting would be fruitful only if the American party adopts the same serious position and shows the same goodwill we have in agreeing to the meeting," th Vietnamese spokesman said.

"However, recent American statements do not reflect the kind of attitude the United States should have adopted and only aim to serve its own political consequences."

President Ford said Sept. 7 that resumption of diplomatic ties would depend on a "a full acounting without further delay" of the hundreds of American servicemen still missing after the Vietnamese war.

Vietnam, in turn, wants economic aid, which Hanoi claims was promised by the Nixon administration in the 1973 Paris truce agreements.

A State Department spokesman confirmed only last week that the United States recently responded to the latest in a series of six notes between the two nations.

The U.N. Security Council delayed action on Vietnam's application for membership last month because the United States threatened to use its veto.

The United States said it would oppose the unified Communist regime that took over the Southeast Asian country in April 1975 because of Hanoi's "brutal and inhumane treatment" of the families of hundreds of American servicemen unaccounted for in the war.

Vietnam objected to the U.S. stand, noted it had made public Sept. 6 the names of 12 airmen killed in action, and said the United States "responded to Vietnam's goodwill by continuing its hostilities."

Hanoi simultaneously released the texts of confidential U.S - Vietnamese notes exchanged between March and August and charged U.S. concern was with the election campaign, not with the families of missing servicemen.

Kissinger's Rhodesia plan rejected

Black nationalist leaders in Geneva Sunday "completely rejected" Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's peace plan for Rhodesia, saying they had come to Geneva to negotiate majority rule within months, not years. "The theme of the conference must be the transference of power," said Robert Mugabe, the first black leader to arrive for the talks opening Oct. 28. "This necessarily excludes the Kissinger plan, about which we were not consulted and which stands completely rejected by us and all the masses of Zimbabwe (the black nationalist name for Rhodesia)," he said.

China's Hua makes public debut

A jovial and supremely confident Hua Kuo-feng made his public debut as the new chairman of China's Communist party Sunday before a rally of more than a million supporters in Peking's main square. Smiling, waving and clapping his hands, Hua chatted with other leaders on a rostrum overlooking Tien An Men (Gate of Heavenly Peace) square, which was a sea of people brandishing multicolored flags, banners and placards.

Contrary to expectations of Peking diplomats, Hua did not address the 90-minute rally. The meeting also did not yield a new leadership lineup, as anticipated. But all the speakers praised the party's "wise decision" in naming Hua successor to the late Mao Tse-tung and in purging Mao's widow, Chiang Ching and three other key radicals.

S. African police fire on crowd; 3 dead

South African riot police fired shotguns and automatic weapons into a crowd of more than 10,000 blacks at a funeral Sunday, killing three persons and wounding 51, a senior police officer said Sunday. The incident was the worst outbreak of violence in the black ghetto of Soweto since mid-September, when police killed eight blacks during demonstrations against Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's visit to South Africa.

U.S. probes Korean campaign donations

South Korean agents directed by President Park Chung Hee have given between 500,000 and $1 million yearly in cash, gifts and campaign donations to congressmen and other U.S. officials during the 1970s, the Washington Post reported Sunday. The Justice Department is investigating "more than 20 present and former congressmen accused of accepting cash and gifts from the South Koreans in exchange for legislative favors," the newspaper said. It said Tongsun Park, a South Korean operative based in Washington, has stated he made substantial payments to former Reps. Cornelius Gallagher, D-N.J., Richard Hanna, D-Calif., to Edwin Edwards, D-La., a former congressman who is now governor of Louisiana, and to Rep. William Broomfield, R-Mich., and others who were not identified.

War vets head for River Kwai bridge

• A handful of former Japanese guards and their wartime Allied prisoners headed for the bridge on the River Kwai to "shake hands and forget" a 33-year hatred. The war veterans planned to gather 118 miles west of Bangkok Monday amid the graves of POWs who died building the Siam-Burma railway for Japanese troops. "It was my duty to do this," said the trip's organizer, Takashi Nagase, a former prison interpreter. Nagase chose Monday for the ceremony at the River Kwai because it was the 33rd anniversary of the railway's completion. Dennis Roland of New York City said if he came face-to-face with a guard from his confinement, "I'd shake hands and forget it." A British ex-POW, Donald Wise, said he'd have a beer with his old guards.

• Bruce Collins, a young California man who survived 28 days on the Pacific in a small rubber raft after the sinking of the yacht "Spirit" was rescued Sunday. The Coast Guard said his condition was good considering the time he faced the elements. Two of his companions on the raft were buried at sea.

• Robert Gainer, who left New York on Oct. 2 seeking to be the first American to circle the world nonstop in a sailboat, may have disappeared in the Bermuda Triangle, the Coast Guard said Sunday. Gainer's supporters hope that perhaps only his radio had gone out. A 530-foot cargo ship was believed to have gone down in the same area last week.

Doc's insurance costs patients $1.24

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Each visit to a doctor in 1975 cost the average American $1.24 for medical malpractice insurance, an increase of 313 per cent over the charges of two years ago, the American Medical Association said Sunday.

The cost of protecting a doctor from suits by his patients amounted to 8.1 per cent the total cost of the office visit, the AMA said.

In 1973 a patient paid an average 30 cents, or 2.4 per cent of the doctor bill, to cover insurance costs.

"Cost of physicians' malpractice insurance is hitting the patient where it hurts — in the pocketbook," the AMA said. The medical association predicted an "even greater" impact on patients in 1976 because of rising costs of malpractice insurance.

But the impact will not be only on the pocketbook.

According to the AMA, the Texas Medical Association has identified steps doctors in that state are taking to avoid a malpractice suit:

• 67 per cent were ordering more X-rays.

• 66 per cent were ordering more lab tests.

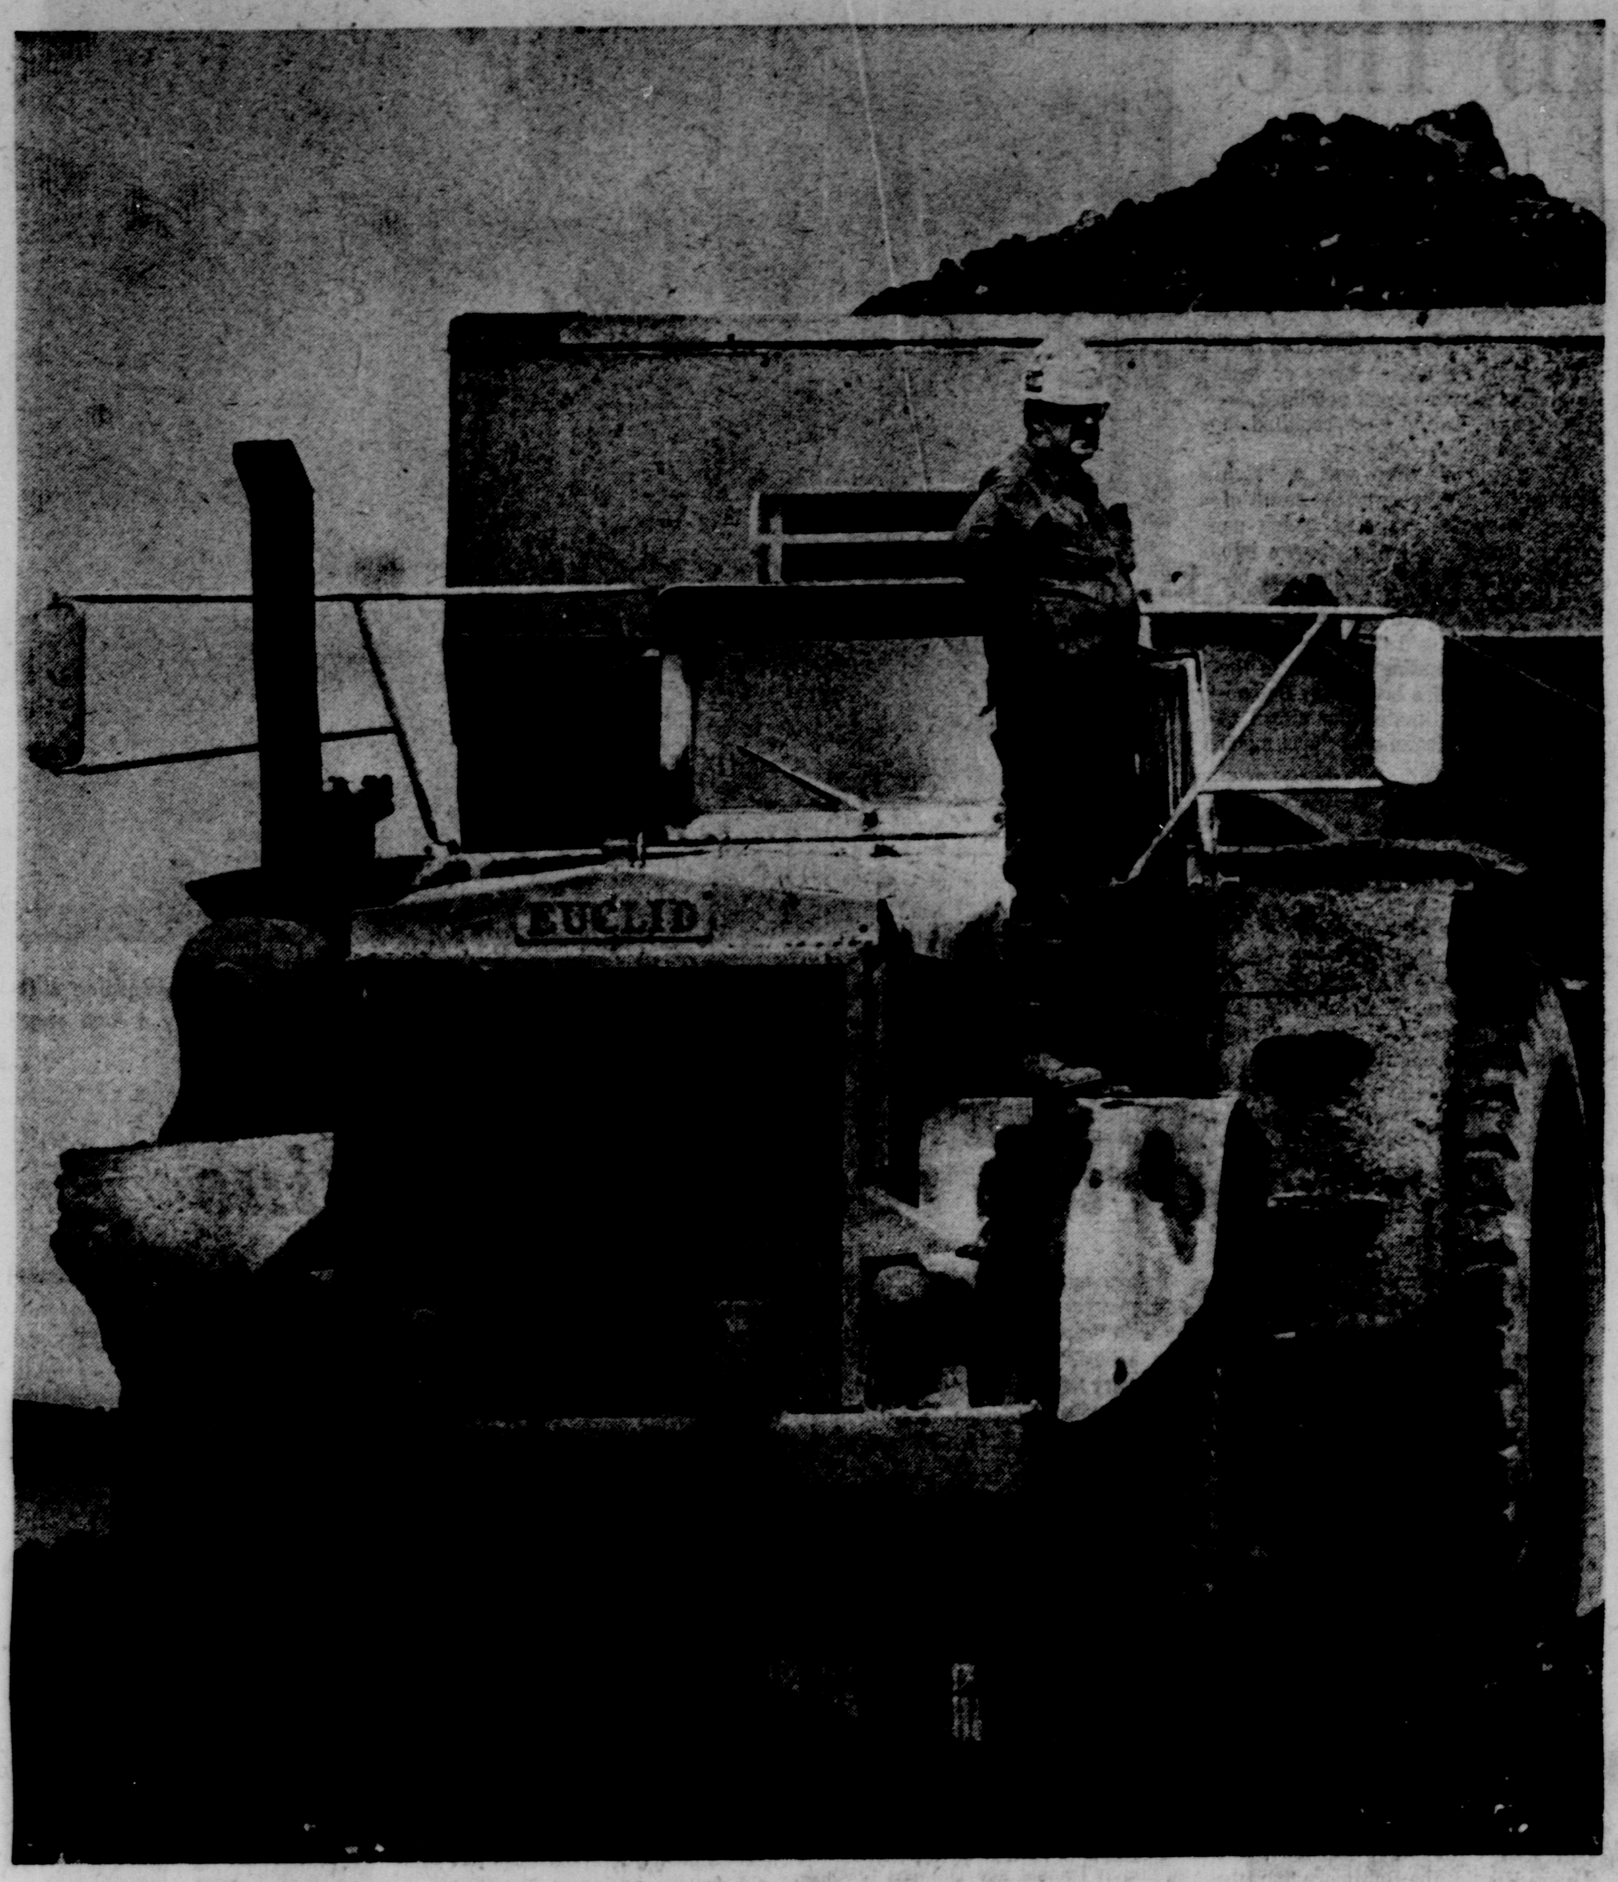

• 51 per cent made greater use of a second physican's opinion.

• 50 per cent were delegating less responsibility for the patient's care to other medical personnel.

• 48 per cent were hsopitalizing their patients more often.

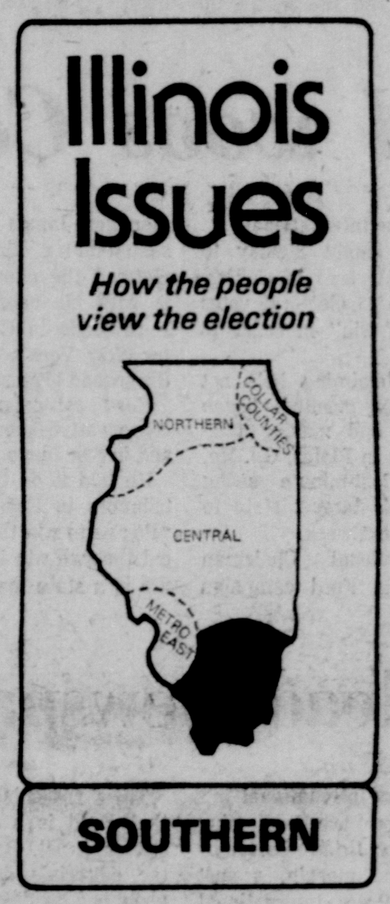

"When federal controls on physician fees were dropped in 1974, we asked physicians to do their best to hold the line," said Dr. James Sammons, AMA executive vice president. He added: "No one can reasonably expect doctors to absorb the sometimes horrendous impact of increased malpractice insurance."

A doctor paid an average of $610 for malpractice insurance in 1968, and $1,906 in 1973. Last year malpractice insurance costs rose to $7,887.

'Where talk and work is government little less in

Story by Toni Ginnetti

Photographs by Dave Tonge

(IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS) — A mile beneath the soils of Marion, in a stark, black cellar of rock, in a world 48 inches high and 50 feet wide, men and machines dig for coal.

In the fruit orchards of Alto Pass, workers pluck the ladened apple branches under the waning rays of the setting autumn sun.

A poker game brings four friends to the local snooker club in Cairo, where now-hushed streets once quivered in the pressure cooker tension of racial strife.

A HALF MILLION proud individuals from a hundred small towns of Main Streets and village squares . . . resting in rocking chairs on white-painted porches in Mounds . . . driving pickup trucks on the rural roads between the mines of Benton and Marion and Ziegler. . .waiting for a job in Cairo. . .

They are thinking about how little a dollar means today, how they resent a welfare system that drains them to support those who won't work . . . how they have lost faith in their government.

Too many bureaucratic controls. Too many handouts. Too many unfulfilled promises. Too little real concern for their problems.

And too little optimism that marking an "X" in a ballot box on Nov. 2 will make a difference.

The people of Southern Illinois voice it in different ways, yet it comes out the same.

Old Ben. Peabody. Amax. Inland Steel. Freeman.

THESE ARE THE Giants of an industry which reigns over south central Illinois.

The industry is coal. The billion-year-old ore is the monarch here, shaping the lives of 14,000 miners and their families and rippling its influence as an energy source beyond the boundaries of the state.

Ask a veteran miner how long he has been in the industry and the reply is predictable. "All my life. My dad was a coal miner all his life, too."

Bill Urton is one of them. He has spent the last 31 of his 56 years in coal mines. To him and his thousands of brethern, this industry is everything.

BUT WHEN THE mine superintendent of the Harrisburg Coal Co. talks about government today, the words are of excessive regulations and control which he thinks are suffocating his industry.

"We have a bureaucracy that is choking the mining industry," he says "The bureaucracy of inspections is hurting mining.

"There was a need for regulations," he says. "But I feel we're over-controled now."

It bothers him that government has extended that scope of control not only into industry but into the lives of many.

"IF WE WANT our government doing everything for us, feeding us and taking care of us, I think that's the direction we're going in. It's like what John Kennedy said. 'It's not what they can do for us. It's what we can do for them, and I think that's a pretty good idea."

Welfare, the economy, inflation — miners like Bill Urton hint their concern for these things. But they see little being done to deal with them.

"No matter who gets in or what they do, things don't change that much," Ron High of Marion says. At 29, Ron already has five years of experience in this work.

He says he has "no particular preference" for president.

Does he care?

"Yea, I care," he tells you. "It's just that I don't feel more for one than the other."

ASK 61-YEAR-OLD Lee Cash who he prefers for president, and he begins discussing the clash between Arnold Miller and Leroy Patterson. They are contending for control of the United Mine Workers of America, Miller to keep it, Patterson to wrest it away.

That's what Cash thinks you mean when you ask him who he will vote for.

Cash has worked at Old Ben Coal Company's mine No. 26 in Sesser for 20 years.

He has been laid up with illness lately. Hasn't worked since June this year he says. Last year, he was out for six months. But the union's insurance program has helped there, taking care of the thousands of dollars of hospital bills.

"GOOD THING I get the benefits," he says. They come to about $200 per week; with that and the extra funds he and his wife take in on Tuesday's flea market day in Sesser when Mrs. Cash sells the dolls she has handcrafted, the couple gets by.

"It's not much in this day and age, but it sure helps," Cash says.

Cash hasn't talked much with his fellow workers since June, but he figures "they're thinking about a lot of different things," mostly what's going to happen in the union.

"You'll hear them talk about old John L., who was the best," Cash says of coal mining's legendary union boss John L. Lewis.

HARRY CLIFT and George Knight wouldn't remember "Old John L." But they are as much a part of mining today as Lewis once was. Clift, 34, and Knight, 31, work at the Amax Coal Company's Delta strip mine near Marion.

Clift sees his industry as the "fastest growing" in the country and likes what Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter says about utilizing the nation's coal reserves..

WHEN POLITICIANS talk about strip mining, they talk about land reclamation turning the chewed up terrains back into usable acreage. When they talk about underground mining, they talk about the need for safety measures and "black lung" laws to protect miners' health.

When miners talk about politicians, they say little.

Yet A. J. Webster, superintendent for the Old Ben Co., will tell you this is "a volatile industry," prone to strikes.

"They'll walk out if the coffee is cold in the morning," he grumbles. "Your image of a coal miner is that he sits on his porch with the dog, drinking beer, with a washing machine sitting in the corner," he says scornfully. "Well, it's not that way. The fact is miners make $15,000 to $20,000 a year."

AND IF YOU ask about politics, he shrugs. "I think a lot of the miners feel the way I do, that it doesn't come to a hill of beans."

The sun hasn't even risen most Tuesdays when Dobtson Crum, his wife and his sister-in-law start setting up their table of nick-nacks in the parking lot near the auction barn in Sesser.

Got to get here early, he tells you. Folks around Sesser start arriving as early as 4 a.m. to get the weekly flea market under way.

No such thing as a lunchtime shopping jaunt here. Morning is sales time. Noon is packing up time.

"YOU SHOULD have come here earlier," Crum says. "You should see them at 4 a.m. They come with flashlights lookin' in your van to see what you've got," he laughs.

For the past three years the Tuesday morning bartering in Sesser has been a regular outing for the 50-year-old Crum. Each week he drives the 90 miles from his Freeburg home to Sesser, his van loaded with everything from perfume bottles to alarm clocks.

Some of it ends up going back home, antiques to be brought back with a week's more value next Tuesday. But the sales made here help stretch the pension money Crum has received since the loss of a leg forced his retirement from the Wabash Railroad a few years back.

"It's your dollar of today. If you go into the store, the small items that you used to be able to buy for 47 cents, now they cost three times that much," he says. "It's the same with the big things.

"You're not going to get any more for your money than you can afford. It just depends on what the people want. Like this basket," he says, pointing to the small wicker container on his table. "I could put a price tag of $1 on it, but if a man doesn't have a dollar to spend, he won't buy it."

Does it matter who is in office? Yes, Crum would tell you, but "politics is politics," he says. "You scratch my back. I scratch yours. It's just the way the game is played."

Time was not so long ago when Jesse Davis might have thought twice about sitting at mid-morning outside his little J&L Soul Food kitchen in the south end of Cairo. Better to mind your own business indoors than out in this town in 1969 and 1970 and 1971.

"THINGS GOT wild around here for a while," the 63-year-old black remembers. The civil rights movement descended with thunder on this town of 6,000. Headlines cried of racial clashes, of state police forces, of night-time curfews, of unrest between the town's 35 per cent black and 65 per cent white population.

No more.

Stroll along Washington Avenue past the abandoned store fronts. Nod a greeting to an occasional passerby. Coax one of the half dozen dogs sniffing the street for a morsel into accepting a pat. Wander into the Snooker Club up the street for a Coke and catch the conversation of the card players in the corner.

Somebody in there mentions politics, and Mickey Reeves jumps out from behind the bar to challenge card-playing Joe Huffman to a $100 bet on the outcome of the gubernatorial race.

The fruits of Eden in Alto Pass.

Reeves has worked on the river barges for 25 years. He's a Democrat. Huffman runs an insurance agency. He's a Republican.

WALK PAST the barber shop and grocery store and library along Ill. Rte. 51 through town.

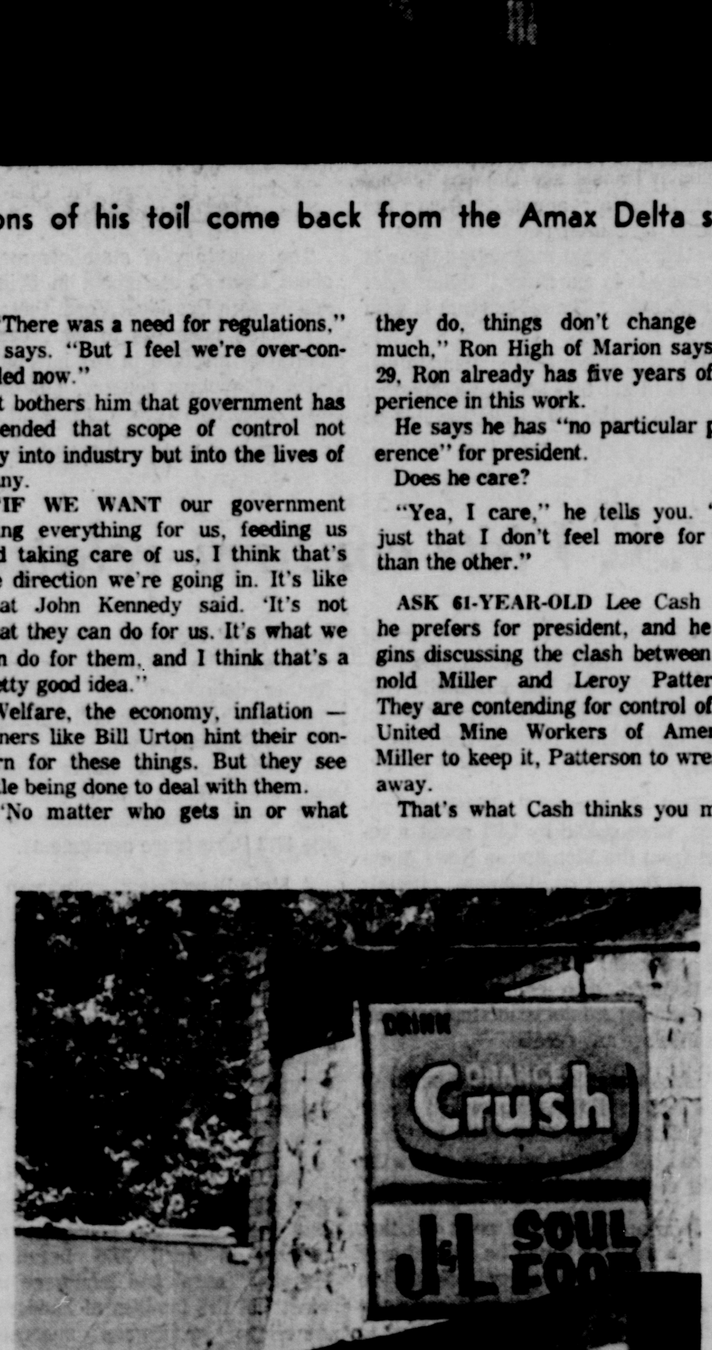

Quiet.

Hardly a place where fear once stalked.

Pete Thomas, 58, runs a Ford dealership. He's lived in Cairo all his life and was mayor from 1969 to 1971, coming into office at the urging of city council friends after Mayor Lee Stenzen resigned.

"We had a situation where we had about 5 per cent of the black population and 5 per cent of the white knocking heads. There really wasn't a whole lot you could do except try to stay between them."

CAIRO HAS other concerns now.

Cairo calm . . . but memories of a troubled past.

is slow hard, means a life'

The snooker club sharks . . . fast hands but no sure bets on politics.

The end of a day underground for a paycheck that doesn't seem to go far enough.

Unemployment is high, as high as 15 and 20 per cent, depending upon the season, Thomas says.

And yet there are jobs that go unfilled, he contends.

"You can't find people willing to work," he says. "I have three openings. I haven't found anyone to take them."

Thomas thinks welfare is to blame. "Why, if someone makes $135 a week on welfare, should he work for $150 a week? I don't blame him. We have too much government and too expensive government on all levels."

Still, things are a little better in Cairo today.

JESSE DAVIS sees people coming back to the town he's lived in since 1956. A lot of them "left when all the trouble was goin' on," he says. "There's a gang of them comin' back. Some of them just want to come back home. And a lot of jobs is comin' in," the retired construction worker says.

Thomas agrees, pointing to the expansion of the Bunge Corp., a major grain exporter, and new highway and bridge construction.

Yet even with that brighter outlook, there is apathy, he says.

Business is apathetic about investing in Cairo's redevelopment. And the town's people seem disinterested in candidates and campaign promises.

"Actually, I think most votes are cast against candidates. 'I don't like that so-and-so, so I'm going to vote for the other guy.' I hear this more than 'I'm going to vote for this guy because I like him,'" Thomas says. "I guess that goes along with people saying they're fed up."

THE HANDSHAKE is limp but sincere. At 70 years old, Glen Mize takes the days a little easier now.

The demanding life of a farmer is behind him. Afternoons are a quiet time to enjoy his pipe and rest on the front porch of this white frame house in Mounds that has been home for him and his wife for the past four years.

This house, with its $70.60 a month mortgage, means a lot to Mize. He gestures resentfully at the other houses around his, cluttered with debris, weatherbeaten, in disrepair.

"The niggers shot out the window next door last night, and the one across the street," he says.

No hesitation in the declaration. No doubt, either, about what he thinks is wrong with things today.

"I KNOW A MAN who's 40 years old. Never worked a day. He's on welfare. Don't want to work. There's jobs. People don't want to work. Everybody's on welfare."

"I'll tell you about politics," his wife says. "You don't know who to believe anymore. I'm not a religious person, but I do believe a lot of things in the Bible is comin' true."

She talks about the sting of inflation. Mize says, "It'll cost you $60,000 to buy a tractor today" and his wife talks about "pinching" to make ends meet.

"It's organized labor," Mize says. "It's these strikes that's causin' it.

"If these people had to live on a base income like we do, well I don't know if they could," his wife says. "We have to pinch. You have to pinch from the bottom on to the top.

The afternoons in Jonesboro's town square are filled with the memories of a handful of old men.

THEY CONGREGATE here daily, around the tree-lined, fountained pool, in the same place where Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas met Sept. 15, 1858, for the third of their seven debates.

Pete Brimn, 65, comes here to talk and take advantage of the shade when the autumn afternoon temperatures hover at 80.

Brimn was raised on a farm here, but his adult years were spent driving a truck, working in construction and in a factory until a heart attack nudged him into retirement.

Brimm "tried to work a little" to supplement his pension income, but his ill health curtailed that. Each day it seems to get a little harder to get by on that pension.

"I HEARD THIS morning on the news that Medicare is going up again the first of January. I don't see how things can keep going on and on. You just have to watch how you spend it.

"A lot of work around here is union, and they get a raise once in a while, but it doesn't seem to come up to the cost of living."

Strangely, while the town square talk is of problems, it is not of politics, Brimn says. "I haven't heard people talk about that much," he tells you. "Things are the same no matter which side gets in.

"I don't think I'll vote this year," he says. "I haven't voted the last few times."

And yet his 80-year-old companion turns to you and allows as how "you can't go into a store and spend less than a dollar today. We haven't had it like this since the Hoover days."

Sometimes, late in the day in the field around Alto Pass, you could swear Mother Nature dabbed that reddish glow to the setting sun to remind you you're in apple country.

AS IF you need to be reminded. Row upon row of apple trees line the rolling countryside from Anna to Murphysboro, the land James Rendleman has lived in for 69 years.

With his nephew, Wayne Sirles, 35, he runs the Grover Rendleman and Son orchard, apples and peaches the specialty.

The Rendleman family has been in this business since the Civil War, Sirles says.

This has been a prosperous business and Rendleman and his nephew work side by side with their help in every phase. But like everything else, the cost of the operation keeps going up.

"EVERYTHING is being priced out of the market," Rendleman says as he stands at the conveyor line sorting bruised apples from those that will be shipped to chain stores around the state.

"Diesel fuel for the trucks used to cost me 10.3 cents a gallon. Now I'm paying 32 cents a gallon." The cost of chemicals is rising, too, he says. Doubled, in fact, in two years.

"And I'll tell you why that is. There are too many EPA regulations on the chemical industry.

"But you can't measure everything in dollars and cents. The worst trouble is the attitude among people that 'they got theirs, now I want mine.'

"I'm one of the staunchest Democrats in the area, but I tell you, what worries me is some of my Republican friends say 'let's vote all the rascals out.' Well, you can't do that because they're not all rascals. Somebody's got to run things.

John McCarty keeps hearing people say the same thing.

"They're fed up. They're just totally fed up. There's a kind of negativism, a kind of frustration.

"I have the feeling from talking with people that, with each of these election periods the expectations build up and then they find out through time that nothing much gets done but increased regulations, increased taxes and decreased efficiency coming from more government regulations."

McCARTY IS executive vice president of Southern Illinois Inc., a nonprofit organization founded 40 years ago to promote economic development in Southern Illinois. He is also a former chairman of the Illinois Civil Service Commission.

Southern Illinois is his home. And the hometown folk he talks to seem to have soured on things.

"People are losing faith in their institutions, and any time you lose faith in institutions you will have serious problems.

"Government spending in Illinois has almost doubled in the last five years. We're spending too much in education and welfare. Welfare costs have gone up 21 per cent, education 15 per cent."

McCarty sees the problem as partly one of expanding government. "Call it regulations if you like. An agency develops and it hangs on to life. Then a new agency comes and it hangs on to life.

" I HATE THE WORD but it's bureaucracy. In five years Nixon created five new agencies, and he had the image of being a conservative president. There is more and more bureaucracy and more and more adversary relations developing. But government shouldn't be your enemy.

"Watergate just added to the distrust. I remember talking to people and they used to say (about a candidate) 'What can he do for me?' I don't hear that remark. I hear 'How much harm can he do?'

"I've heard a lot of people say, 'Let's not re-elect any incumbents. Let's let them sit out a term.' I saw a bumper sticker the other day that said, 'Don't re-elect anybody.'

"People are confused. People are fed up with inflation, and they don't understand unemployment. I don't hear people talking about Helsinki. They're talking about people who can't put them back to work, who can't solve their problems.

"We're all in the same boat," he says, "and the darn thing is floundering."

Blackened skin, honest sweat.

Afternoon in Mounds and a time for Glen Mize to relax.

The way we see it

Nov. 2 endorsements begin today

The Herald begins its endorsements today of candidates in the Nov. 2 elections. These endorsements will continue through next Monday.

In most races, we will offer a strong recommendation of an individual candidate or at least attempt to provide guidance for our readers.

Guiding our judgment is The Herald's policy on editorials, which reads in part:

"Officially and in practice Paddock Publications newspapers are independent of any political party or special interest group. . .in terms of advocacy, (they) are oriented to issues and how they touch the people of the communities the newspapers serve."

We do not regard our judgment as sacrosanct, but merely an additional — and hopefully an informed — source of opinion for our readers to weigh in making their own choices.

Griffith, Foster and Kirie for MSD

The board of commissioners of the Metropolitan Sanitary District sometimes seems to break into public consciousness only when its periodic scandals surface.

However, the board, which supervises a multi-million dollar budget, has direct impact on the lives of residents in ways that are sometimes ignored. The MSD is not only in charge of collecting and treating sewage but also has been active in finding solutions for problems of flooding and water pollution.

Three commissioners are being elected for six-year terms Nov. 2. The commissioners will earn $25,000 a year.

For these important posts, we endorse Republicans William Griffith and Delores Foster and Democratic incumbent James Kirie.

Kirie, a resident of Elmwood Park, has served on the board for six years and in that time has proven himself to be both capable and concerned about the people he serves. He has been untouched by the recent scandals and deserves to be returned to office.

Griffith, a resident of Arlington Heights, has spent the last 10 months waging a diligent and credible campaign for office. He has thoroughly informed himself about the issues and will be a real asset on the board.

Foster, of Chicago, is an employe of the state comptroller's office and has promised to be a full-time commissioner. She shows a good grasp of the issues and the ability to develop into a fine board member.

Bernard Carey for second term

Voters in Cook County have a choice between two candidates for state's attorney who are men of integrity.

We endorse incumbent Republican Bernard Carey over Democrat Edward Egan.

During four years in office, Carey has succeeded in restoring the stature of the state's attorney's office, which had been damaged severely by his predecessor, Democrat Edward Hanrahan.

At the same time, Carey's tenure has been disappointing in some ways. He has sometimes been guilty of headline hunting, and despite his promises he has not been notably successful in challenging political corruption in Chicago.

Carey is a better choice than Egan, however, because he is independent of the Democratic Party organization which dominates Chicago and Cook County government.

Egan, while a man of good reputation who served well as a judge of the Circuit Court and Court of Appeals, would not have the necessary independence of the Daley organization, to which he would owe his election.

The office of state's attorney is particularly sensitive, and voters can ensure its key functions are not subordinated to the machine's pressure by electing Republican Carey.

Finley for clerk, pass on recorder

Two offices which will appear on the Nov. 2 election ballot in Cook County do not belong there at all.

Those offices are clerk of the circuit court and recorder of deeds, offices which are totally administrative in character and ought to be filled by appointment rather than election.

The futility of electing the recorder of deeds has even been recognized by the Cook County Home Rule Study committee, which has recommended the job be made appointed.

For circuit court clerk, we endorse incumbent Morgan M. Finley, the Democrat who has held the post since the death of Matthew Danaher in 1974.

Finley, a next door neighbor and close friend of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, is clearly a product of the Democratic "machine," and so cannot be expected to end patronage in the clerk's office.

However, while in office he has displayed the ability to improve its efficiency and has adopted significant innovations, particularly in the area of computerizing records.

Finley's Republican opponent, Roland Moore, is unqualifed for the office.

In the race for recorder of deeds, the obscure, aging Democratic incumbent, Sidney Olsen, is being opposed by a nearly as obscure Republican, Casimir Oksas. We make no endorsement in that race.

Ryan for Lake Co. state's attorney

The office of state's attorney is the most important Lake County office on the Nov. 2 ballot. We recommend the election of Dennis Ryan of Libertyville.

As a newspaper that publishes a weekly Libertyville edition, we've had a pretty good chance to get to know Ryan over the last few years, both as village trustee and as township attorney. We believe him to be intelligent, honest, hardworking and a good lawyer. We don't think Lake County deserves any less in its state's attorney.

Ryan is on solid ground when he points to the need to recruit, train and keep talented young lawyers on the state's attorney's staff, and to the necessity for the state's attorney to take an active role in investigating and prosecuting serious crime and political corruption.

In a county that has recently seen the federal court indictment and conviction of both a former sheriff and a former county board chairman, Ryan's opponent, incumbent Jack Hoogasian, points with pride to his record in delinquent tax collection.

Hoogasian also promises to consider — after the election, of course — a meeting with the county's press to discuss his standard nonelection year press policy of refusing either to talk to reporters or to allow his assistants to talk to them on substantive matters.

Hoogasian's arrogance in dealing with the press is of the same stripe as his recent refusal to let the county board's law and judicial committee review his budget.

If Democrat Ryan is elected, we look for an end to that kind of antagonism between the state's attorney's office and the county board.

We believe he will be an independent, energetic and effective state's attorney, and we urge his election.

One choice in Dist 5

Four candidates are vying for two seats in Lake County Board Dist. 5.

The Herald endorses Republican Herman "Dusty" Rhodes for one seat. Rhodes, a 10-year veteran of the Lake County treasurer's office, promises to bring fiscal responsibility to the county at a time when expenditures are exceeding revenues.

Rhodes recommends that the county not enter into any further programs that call for expenditures of money until sufficient additional revenues are secured, and we feel that's a good idea.

The Herald makes no recommendation for the other Dist. 5 seat.

Too many issues on ballots

Confusion blocks voters

by DON OAKLEY

There is not much point in arguing with people who say they aren't going to vote in the presidential election because neither candidate is deserving, or because it doesn't matter how you vote since nothing ever changes, etc., etc.

This is the way people feel — 70 million of them, according to one survey — and there is little that can be done to crack through the rather self-righteous shell into which they have retreated. Certainly, much of what they say about politics and politicians is true.

But it is one thing to refuse to participate in selecting the man who will lead the nation, and the free world, for the next four years. It is another to throw away the right to vote entirely.

Choosing the president is, after all, merely one decision Americans will be called upon to make on Nov. 2. There will be a host of other questions on every ballot in every community in the nation.

On the national level, of course, all 435 seats in the U.S. House of Representatives and 34 seats in the Senate will be in the balance.

But on the state level, voters will be faced with more than 340 issues of every description — taxes, judicial reform, terms of state officers and salaries, bond issues, industrial development, sexual equality, law enforcement.

Georgians alone will be confronted with no less than 95 "ballots," ranging from a new state constitution to authorizing the General Assembly to create a small claims court in Whitfield County. In Maryland, 19 amendments to the state constitution will be on the ballot.

In Massachusetts, citizens will decide whether or not to make part of their state's constitution an amendment guaranteeing equal rights regardless of sex, and in Colorado the question will be whether or not to keep that state's 1972 equal rights amendment.

Also in Colorado, voters will be asked, as they were in California earlier this year, to weigh a proposal — Proposition 3 — which could determine the future of nuclear energy in their state.

The same is true in five other states. In Ohio, it's Issue 6; in Oregon, Proposition 9; in Washington, Initiative 325; in Montana, Proposition 71, and in Arizona, Proposition 200.

All of these proposals are characterized by their opponents as "antinuclear." By placing unrealistic restrictions on nuclear power plants, it is warned, they would foreclose the orderly development of this form of energy. Their advocates, of course, argue just the opposite.

Surely, questions like this ought to arouse the intense concern of every citizen. They can hardly be dismissed as a matter of Tweedledum versus Tweedledee.

Actually, however, therein may lie a clue as to why there is so much voter apathy. Bombarded by propaganda from all sides, not only on the question of nuclear energy but everything else, the average person is often unsure and bewildered.

Moreover, it is frustrating and irritating to be confronted with a lengthy ballot and to realize that you haven't done your homework and know absolutely nothing about some of the candidates for a multitude of offices. Even more annoying are complicated proposals presented in such obtuse language that frequently a vote for is actually a vote against.

What should one do when in doubt? Leave the box blank? Make a hopeful guess? Or stay home in the first place?

For better or worse, this is the way it has always been in a democracy and this is the way it will be until enough people, because of their unwillingness to do the hard work demanded of good citizenship, allow democracy to die by default.

Those who refuse to vote at all are hastening the day when a select few make all our decisions for us. They are not displaying their integrity, just their laziness.

Homecoming has its good and bad points

Our daughter volunteered our garage as a place for the senior class to build their float for Palatine homecoming festivities.

Consequently, from Oct. 6 through 15 we had many, many young people in and out of our home. Our "attached house" made it convenient for making posters, paper mache, etc. The days were long, and the hours late as most of them squeezed in time between work schedules.

We would like to thank those who participated for their adult attitude. Their consideration for our household as well as the neighbors should certainly be commended.

No wonder they received first place — it is quite appropriate!

On behalf of Wheeling High School, I would like to express a sincere thank you to the donors of the prizes and tables for Las Vegas Night, one of our Homecoming Week activities, on Oct. 6. It is this kind of support from the community that helps make Wheeling so great!

The prizes and their donors include tie clasp, Snoopy pillow cases, and a transistor radio from the Wheeling Lions Club; complimentary theater passes from Palwaukee Theater; donuts and Munchkins from Dunkin Donuts; "Revolution" album from Radio Shack; sausage pizzas from Joe's Pizza; and gift certificates from Kotz Shoes and J. Edwards' Men's Store. Prospect Heights Lions Club and Wheeling Lions Club donated the gambling tables.

We are students of Wheeling High School and would like to comment on Arlington High School's actions on the event of their homecoming.

Since it was their Homecoming game, we all thought it in very good spirit for them to soap our school's windows and teepee the grounds. But they went so far as to burn an "A" into our football field. We are very proud of our football stadium and such a thing was terribly uncalled for.

Our school has never gone that far, even on our homecoming. We feel that this was very unnecessary and shows Arlington High School's lack of sportsmanship.

Howlett battles rainy weather to court voters

by STEVE BROWN

SPRINGFIELD — Sec. of State Michael J. Howlett was forced to battle bad weather Sunday during his final Downstate swing of the gubernatorial campaign, but he continued to exhort Democrats to get out the vote.

Howlett drew the biggest crowd of the two-day trip into Southern Illinois at the state fairgrounds here.

He told a crowd estimated at 4,000 persons in the Exposition Center that "Jimmy Carter will be elected President and Mike Howlett will be the next governor of Illinois." Howlett then left the capital by plane for stops in Chester and Carbondale before the 20-hour campaign day came to an end.

MEANWHILE, POLITICAL leaders such as State Rep. Clyde Choate, D-Anna, and others continued to scold the news media for not criticizing Howlett's opponent, Republican James R. Thompson, and not reporting fully Howlett's campaign.

The Democratic gubernatorial candidate worked his way through Herrin, Carterville, Marion and Anna during the weekend and generally faced bad weather that tended to hold down crowds, local Democratic officials said.

However, when the campaign reached Springfield, party leaders estimated that 20,000 were attracted to the state fairgrounds for an afternoon of free food, beer and amusement rides. Todd Renfro, Sangamon County Democratic chairman said that more than 20,000 persons had entered the fairgrounds by mid-afternoon.

Saturday, inclement weather canceled a round of street campaigning in Williamson County and a massive outside rally and bar-b-que sponsored by Choate in Union County.

DESPITE A HEAVY downpour, more than 350 persons gathered at a building in the Anna City Park to hear Howlett and Choate call for a large voter turnout on Nov. 2.

During the Downstate swing, Howlett referred to a report that Thompson had appeared before Democratic slatemakers in 1968 seeking the nomination for Cook County state's attorney. A report of that effort was reported erroneously in the October issue of Chicago magazine. Although the senior editor of that publication said the report was an error, Howlett said he refused to apologize to Thompson until the reporter who wrote the story admitted she was wrong.

During a breakfast speech in Marion, Howlett criticized Thompson for his opposition to establishing a nonpartisan board of directors to operate the state fair.

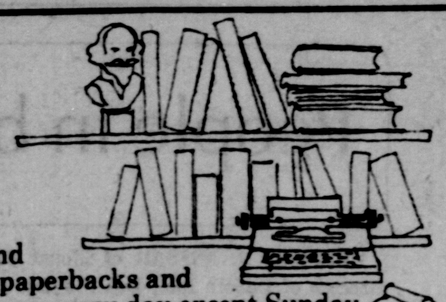

Howlett quoted Thompson as saying the governor's office should maintain control over the fair and if the operation cannot be improved it should be abolished.

"JIM THOMPSON'S attitude about the state fair is arrogant and irresponsible," Howlett said. He said he favors legislation that would establish the nonpartisan board.

Howlett emerged from his Springfield appearance claiming the crowd was "greatest Democratic gathering I have ever seen in this town."

Michael Bakalis, the Democratic candidate for comptroller, joined Howlett on the state in the exposition hall.

Bears blitzed by Cowboys

From Herald Wire Services

IRVING, Tex. — The Bears shook hands with Dallas' vaunted "Doomsday Defense" in a nationally-televised football game Sunday afternoon and the Bears are probably still shaking, 31-21.

The Cowboys controlled both sides of the line of scrimmage in the hard-hitting affair, the offense picking the Bear secondary apart and the defense throttling a surprisingly unimaginative Chicago offense.

Quarterback Danny White, filling in for the injured Roger Staubach, connected with Preston Pearson for two second-half touchdowns to help Dallas hold off a Chicago rally.

STAUBACH, THE NFL's leading passer, went out of the game early in the second half with a broken bone in the little finger of his right hand as a result of a hit by defensive end Mike Hartenstine.

The Cowboys were leading at the time, 17-7, and White quickly drove Dallas to another touchdown — a 15-yard pass to Pearson, who made a spectacular diving catch in the end zone.

Dallas quickly saw its 17-point lead cut. Ross Brubacher intercepted a White pass and then lateraled to Hartenstine to complete a 25-yard touchdown play for the Bears, and Johnny Musso, subbing for the NFL's leading rusher Walter Payton, scored moments later on a two-yard run.

White, however, responded to the pressure, hitting Golden Richards with a 56-yard pass to the Bears 12, then finding Pearson again with a six-yard touchdown throw that wrapped up Dallas' sixth win in seven starts.

White hit on seven of 10 passes for 145 yards.

IN THE FIRST half, Staubach had bulled over linebacker Don Rives on a four-yard touchdown run and flipped a four-yard scoring toss to Drew Pearson. Efren Herrera added a 22-yard field goal for the Cowboys.

Payton, who left the game in the second half with a slightly sprained right ankle, scored Chicago's only first-half touchdown on a two-yard dive.

The Cowboys held Payton to less than three yards a carry while he was in the game.

Chicago's longest scoring drive was of a mere 14-yards. Payton's touchdown came after Staubach had fumbled on the Dallas five and Musso's touchdown late in the third period followed Virgil Livers punt return to the Dallas 14.

Chicago saw its record dip to 3-4.

DALLAS' CORRALING of Payton and a hard rush on quarterback Bob Avellini prevented the Bears from producing a sustained drive. Avellini could manage only six completions in 16 attempts for a modest 54 yards and was sacked four times.

Staubach, who had hit 12 of 21 passes for 162 yards before his departure, twice went to the Dallas dressing room for x-rays while the second half was in progress.

The first x-ray was unclear and doctors asked for another. That one showed the small broken bone on his throwing hand.

THE BEARS get no sympathy in their schedule as they must face Central Division-leading Minnesota in Soldier Field Sunday.

The last time the two clubs met, it was for the division leadership. Since the Vikings' 20-19 triumph left the young and inspirational Bears with a bad taste in their mouth since a Chicago victory was snatched by two missed conversion kicks.

Rain prematurely halts state archery tourney

Old Mother Nature brought down the curtain a day early at the first state archery championship for girls.

Rainy, windy, wintry weather wiped out Saturday's portion of the two-day event at Normal, robbing area teams of the chance to overtake first-round leader Freeburg.

Thanks to the bad weather as well as their superb shooting on Friday, the Midgets from Freeburg captured the inaugural meet with a 2545 score.

THE HERALD area showed its strength in the sport by taking second through fifth. Rolling Meadows, the newest team in the area, captured second place with 2437.

Placing third was Maine West with 2385. Prospect finished in fourth with 2364 and Arlington was fifth with 2316.

"We had mixed emotions about it," said Mustang coach Ken Bates of the rained out second round. "We wanted to shoot. We had a nice team talk (Friday) and they wanted to go after them (Freeburg)."

Meadows was led by Maria Recker, who won top individual honors with her 660 score. She edged out Freeburg's Brenda Borger, who scored a 657.

Black Hawks belt Blues

The Chicago Black Hawks exploded for three first period goals and went on to humble St. Louis in the Stadium Sunday, 7-2, moving back into a tie for first place with the Blues in the Conn Smythe Division of the NHL.

The victory snapped a three-game Black Hawk losing streak acquired on the road. They now own a 5-4 record.

Bobby Orr, Ivan Bordilev and Cliff Koroll each drove home a pair of goals. Orr picked up his third goal of the campaign in the third period on assists from Phil Russell and Pit Martin. Then Bordilev wrapped up the Hawk barrage.

After two periods the Black Hawks owned a 5-2 lead. Bobby Orr put Chicago on top 20 seconds into the game, scoring on a pass from Jim Harrison.

Harrison, who was subbing for an injured Stan Mikita, also assisted on a Cliff Koroll shot after a scramble behind the net. Koroll then scored all alone on a rare penalty shot to hike the Hawks ahead 3-1 after one stanza.

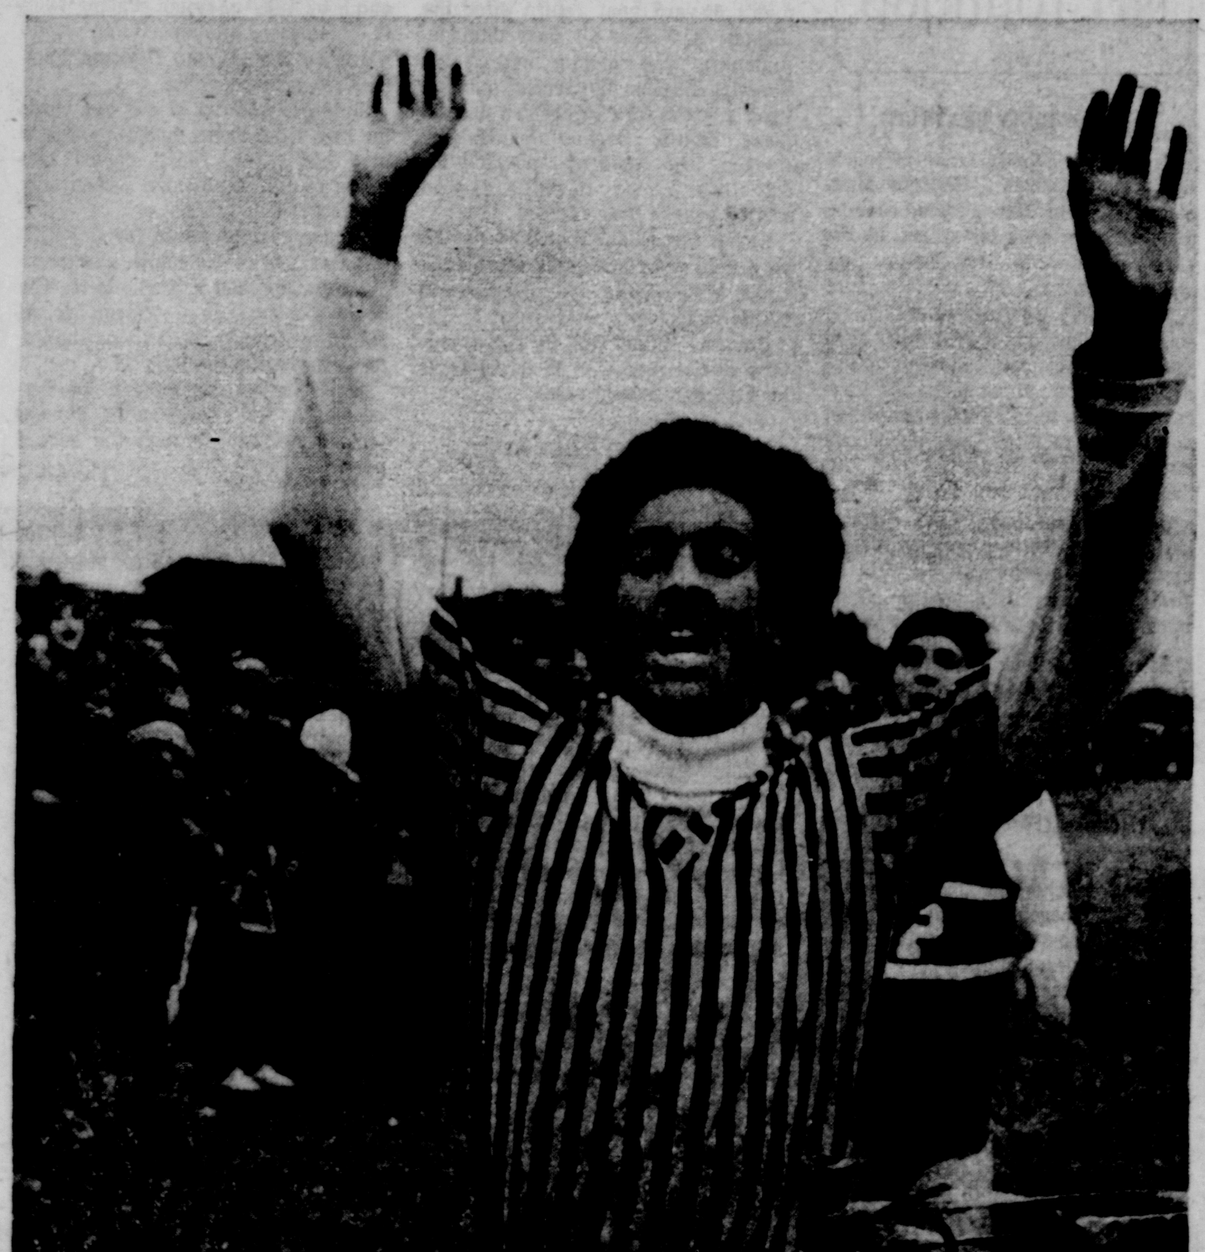

Ivan Boldirev picked up his fifth goal of the season and Dale Tallon dumped one in with help from Pit Martin and Darcy Rota to account for second period Chicago scoring.

St. Louis scored in the first period on a shot by Red Berenson and hit paydirt again late in the second period on a power play by Bob MacMillan with help from Bob Gasshof and Garry Unger.

In other hockey action Sunday Buffalo trimmed Washington 2-1, Philadelphia bettered Colorado 5-3, Pittsburgh tied with Atlanta 3-3 and Vancouver slipped past the New York Rangers 5-4.

THAT WINNING look. Darryl Robinson enters the chute with a Mid-Suburban conference cross-country championship in his back pocket Saturday. Airborne Harper jolts Joliet, 14-9

by CHARLIE DICKINSON

The Joliet Wolves came to Harper Saturday with a flashy new offense, a 6-0 record and big plans for the rest of the season.

Harper met them with a 5-1 mark, an offense they have been using all season and a Designated Back Flipper.

The new DBF position is manned by DuWayne Mill, who does his stuff whenever the Hawks score. Mill got to do two of them Saturday as Harper pulled off the upset of the season, 14-9.

"THIS IS a much bigger win than Northwestern," said Harper coach John Eliasik, "we did more things today than we dreamed of against Northwestern."

Harper's dreams will become very vivid through their remaining games. After a non-conference meeting with Concordia in Milwaukee next week they will host Wright on the final Saturday of the regular season.

A win in that game will give them their first North Central Community College Conference championship and first appearance in the Midwest Bowl. They have already locked up their finest season ever.

HARPER WENT into the Joliet game with two objectives: move the ball through the air and hold Joliet's rushing attack.

They succeeded admirably at the first and did enough of the second to win.

Joliet has so many strong, fast runners they could go into the Rent-A-Back business and still have enough left for themselves.

Jerry Washington led everybody on the ground with 96 yards in 20 carries. George Ervin chipped in 87 yards on 15 carries and scored Joliet's only touchdown. For the day, Joliet totaled 271 yards on the ground.

Eliasik said, "I thought we were just missing tackles in the first half. But my coaches said we were right there but their backs were just so strong."

"WE HAD THE HOLES filled," said defensive coordinator Ward Nelson. "We were just too anxious and when we penetrated, their backs were going by us the other way and we couldn't get them with arm tackling."

The defense made their adjustments at halftime and Kevin Koppari and John Lipp showed the Wolves things would be different as they dumped Ervin for a three yard loss on the first play of the second half.

Joliet never did adjust to Harper's passing.

Jim Atkinson, behind the pass blocking of Barry Conatser, Jerry Parker, Greg Goldman and Lipp, put it in the sky 32 times and completed 15 for 211 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

"They have never seen a team that could pass like we can," Eliasik said.

What delighted Eliasik most was Atkinson's handling of the audible system.

"WE HAVE THE audible in our offense right from the start," he said. "We just never know if we'll have a quarterback who can work it. Atkin-

Fremd's harriers stampede MSL

by ART MUGALIAN
Cross-Country Editor

Ron Menely would have been proud of his Fremd Vikings Saturday.

Menely, whose surprise resignation shook the cross-country world to its very roots Tuesday, wasn't at Ivy Hill to watch the Vikings' awesome display of power running when it counted — in the Mid-Suburban League conference meet.

This was Fremd, the Fremd cross-country program that Menely had shaped from its infancy into a respected and feared power house of distance running. This was the Fremd where Menely had taught and coached for 11 years before last Tuesday when he resigned his job in a cloud of controversy and rumor.

On Saturday, the Vikings ran as they had never run before. They won their fifth straight MSL harrier crown, making it look as easy as an afternoon jog.

AND THEY DID it in style, putting all seven varsity runners in the first 18 finishers, including six of them — Matt Filosa, John Filosa, Bob Ratcliffe, Rolando Garza, Dan Inbody and Dan Tischler — in the top 14 for automatic all-conference honors. Fremd had just 37 points.

But Menely wasn't there to see it. To share in it. To feel the pain or the elation.

The man who inherited the Fremd program this week, the man who was thrust into the position of coaching the state's No. 1 team without as much as a day's warning, was subdued but happy after the race.

Gail Miloch falls, but still wins girls' individual cross-country honors. Details on page 4.

"These kids did a great job," said Roy Hascup, who until Tuesday was Fremd's lower-level coach.

TODAY HASCUP is head coach.

"They proved that Viking cross-country is here," he said. "They recovered from this week's shock. My big leader, John Filosa, and the Big Green Pack came through."

Runnerup Palatine, hampered again as they have been all season by injuries and illness, was so far behind that coach Joe Johnson knew his team was out of it at the half-way point in the race. The Pirates' third man, Chuck Elliott, was in back of Fremd's seventh man, sophomore Tom Ross. Palatine finished with 82.

HOFFMAN ESTATES (109) was third in the race, which was run almost flawlessly by Buffalo Grove coach Frank DeRosa and his staff.

The only possible disappointment for Fremd was that they had to relinquish the individual title to Forest View's Darryl Robinson. The slightly built senior, who was conference two-mile champ last May, shattered the course record with 14:58, outsprinting Tom Johnson of Palatine over the final 200 yards.

"What more could a coach want?" asked Forest View's Bill Mohrmann. "A conference champ and a fourth place!"

Forest View's fourth-place finish was a stunner.

ROBINSON'S VICTORY wasn't necessarily an upset, though. At least not to Robinson.

"I thought it would be a three-man race," said the little Falcon. "Coach told me not to take the lead, to stay 20 yards back until the end, but I thought I could run with the leaders."

Robinson had virtually dropped out of last year's conference meet when a back injury began to give him problems, and the injury had cropped up once this year in a dual meet.

"Nobody thought he could do it," said Mohrmann after the race.

"I've been waiting for this for four years," Robinson said thoughtfully. "Now it doesn't even seem like it's me. I feel the credit should go to God."

ROBINSON TOO the lead near the two-mile mark and never gave it up. To that point, he had jockeyed for the lead with Johnson and John Filosa.

Filosa eventually fell back to fifth, behind third-place finisher Joe Schmidt of Buffalo Grove and Filosa's own brother, Matt, a sophomore, who was fourth.

Filosa was the league's defending champ and had finished second as a sophomore.

Another happy coach was Hersey's Larry Travis, whose Huskies finished in fifth place with 165 points, led by sophomore Steve Johnson in eighth individually.

Fremd was a winner on the freshman and sohpomore levels also.

HAWK HUG. Harper defenders Dan Rosado (71) and Tim Twitchell (46) get the drop on Joliet's Jerry Washington (32) as the Hawks shattered the Wolves unbeaten season Saturday to the tune of 14-9.

Rain prematurely halts state archery tourney

gilrs who placed third and fourth in the individual medalist category, the area placed archers in the last six spots for medals:

Hersey's Corinne Frank was fifth with 632, Maine West's Robin Gulder was sixth with 629, Prospect's Carol Hoeckelberg was seventh with 629, Meadows' Peggy Oman was eighth with 618, Arlington's Pam Hahn was ninth with 616 and Fremd's Laura Weber was in a three-way tie for 10th with 605.

"They did very well," praised Maine coach Connie Bauman of her team. "We were at a disadvantage having only four girls. The other teams took their best four out of five."

Maine West qualified as a team by placing four individuals among the top five at the district meet. Meanwhile, all the rest of the districts were sending just their top two teams.

"THE GIRLS were up for it," she added concerning the competition for Saturday. "Leslie (Blietz) had never shot over 600 before (601) and Sharon (Vaughn) could have shot in the 600s easily. I think we could have given Rolling Meadows a good race."

Vaughn had a 597 on Friday to go with Mary O'Donnell's 558.

Falcons kick West Chicago

The Forest View soccer team drilled West Chicago behind Tom Sroka's pair of first-period goals, another by Tom Stiff and third quarter scores by Mike Goszcycki and Wolfgang Klein.

Assisting in the romp were George Brousalis, Klein and Sroka. In goal for the winners was Kelly O'Brien who handled six saves.

Forest View, meanwhile, also captured a freshman soccer championship over the weekend with a thrilling 1-0 double overtime triumph against Buffalo Grove in the title match. Swen Meesenburg broke the marathon with the deciding goal.

Lake Park won the consolation game over Elk Grove on penalty kicks, 3-2.

Colts, Raiders, Vikings solidify divisional leads

Baltimore, Oakland and Minnesota solidified their first place leads and Cincinnati and Dallas took charge in their divisions on a surprising Sunday of National Football League action that failed to produce any genuine upsets.

Miami barely escaped with a win, as did Los Angeles and the Raiders. Coupled with San Francisco's 15-0 triumph over Atlanta Saturday evening, the results of Sunday's combat left clearcut leaders in each of the loop's six divisions.

Here's what unwound Sunday:

OAKLAND STOPS GREEN BAY

Ken Stabler threw three touchdown passes and the Oakland defense turned back two fourth-quarter Green Bay drives for an 18-14 victory over the Packers in a game marred by 30 penalties.

Stabler's touchdown passes were of 27 yards to Dave Casper, 88 yards to Cliff Branch and 10 yards to Fred Biletnikoff.

The victory was the Raiders' third straight and their sixth against one loss for a commanding lead in the AFC West. The Packers, 14-point underdogs despite a three-game winstreak, suffered their fourth loss in seven decisions.

Stabler's third touchdown came midway through the second quarter and gave the Raiders an 18-7 lead. Oakland failed to make a single extra point as Fred Carr twice blocked attempts by Fred Steinfort and Ray Guy missed on another bid.

NFL roundup

LIONS BURY SEATTLE

Greg Landry threw for three touchdowns and Detroit defenders intercepted six Jim Zorn passes, running three of them back for scores, as the Lions rolled over the Seattle Seahawks, 41-14.

Landry hit scoring tosses of 20 yards to tight end David Hill, eight yards to tight end Charlie Sanders and nine yards to running back Lawrence Gaines to lift the Lions to their second win in three tries under new coach Tommy Hudspeth and run their season mark to 3-4.

Detroit cornerback Levi Johnson had two interceptions, setting up Landry's initial touchdown pass with his first steal and running the second back 70 yards for a score of his own.

Lions cornerback Lem Barney ran another interception back 25 yards for a late touchdown and kicker Benny Ricardo added two field goals to bury the Seahawks.

MINNESOTA CLIPS EAGLES

Chuck Foreman ran for 200 yards and two touchdowns to help the unbeaten Minnesota Vikings overcome early mistakes and defeat the Philadelphia Eagles, 31-12.

Foreman scored on runs of 32 and four yards in setting a Minnesota record for most yards rushing in a single game.

The Vikings, now 6-0-1, trailed 9-7 at halftime as a result of a Tarkenton interception and fumble. But Fred Cox kicked a 32-yard field goal early in the third quarter to put Minnesota into the lead. Later in the same quarter, Fran Tarkenton hit rookie Sammy White with a 35-yard touchdown pass.

Tarkenton finished with 23 of 33 for 249 yards to go over the 40,000 career mark in passing yardage.

BENGALS CLAW HOUSTON

Quarterbacks Ken Anderson and John Reaves each fired one touchdown pass and defensive end Coy Bacon led a strong Cincinnati defensive charge, which produced one score, to lead the Bengals to a 27-7 win over the Houston Oilers.

Houston, 4-3, scored on Ronnie Coleman's 59-yard punt return after the Bengals had done all their damage. Anderson, who slightly injured his throwing hand in the second quarter, fired a seven-yard touchdown pass to Isaac Curtis. Backup quarterback Reaves, who replaced Anderson for only three series, tossed a 14-yard scoring pass to Bruce Coslet.

Kicker Chris Bahr booted 34- and 28-yard field goals after kick return specialist Willie Shelby returned punts 30 and 27 yards.

Houston threatened to score only once in the first half as the Bengals held them to 28 total yards.

MIAMI NOSES OUT BUCS

Garo Yepremian kicked a 29-yard field goal, his third of the game, with 55 seconds to play and snapped a three-game losing streak for the Miami Dolphins with a 23-20 victory over winless Tampa Bay.

Yepremian's kick ended the victory hopes of the expansion Buccaneers, who came closer to winning than in any of their previous half-dozen NFL games.

Miami appeared on the way to an easy victory until veteran quarterback Steve Spurrier came off the bench and led the Bucs to two second-half touchdowns on passes to former Dolphin Morris Owens, who also caught an 18-yard TD pass from Parnell Dickinson in the irst quarter.

DENVER SLAPS CHIEFS

Quarterback Steve Ramsey threw for two touchdowns and Rick Upchurch returned a punt 55 yards for one touchdown and ran a kickoff back 64 yards to set up another in leading the Denver Broncos to a 35-26 win over the Kansas City Chiefs.

Denver, taking advantage of the AFC's worst defense, also scored touchdowns on a 16-yard run by Otis Armstrong and a two-yard run by Jon Keyworth. Ramsey, who hit 13 of 21 passes for 175 yards, left the game midway through the third quarter when he suffered a concussion.

Chiefs quarterback Mike Livingston was helped off the field with just over four minutes to play when he was tackled and his back bruised.

RAMS SQEAK BY

Pat Haden came off the bench in the fourth quarter and threw a 40-yard touchdown pass to Harold Jackson to lead the sluggish Los Angeles Rams to a 16-10 win over the New Orleans Saints.

The score came on the first play after the Rams' Cullen Bryant returned a short Saints punt to the New Orleans 40. Haden evaded tacklers in the backfield, stepped forward and fired to Jackson, who was wide open in the end zone.

The Rams' other 10 points came in the second quarter on a 49-yard field goal by former Saint Tom Dempsey and a two-yard run by running back Lawrence McCutcheon.

Chuck Crist of the Saints blocked Dempsey's extra point try on the winning touchdown.

The Saints scored in the second half after Bobby Douglass replaced starting quarterback Bobby Scott. Douglas threw a 28-yard touchdown pass to running back Tony Galbreath and Rich Szaro kicked a 22-yard field goal.

PATRIOTS EDGE BUFFALO

Quarterback Steve Grogan threw a nine-yard touchdown pass to Russ Francis and ran 10 yards for another score to lead the New England Patriots to a 26-22 victory over the Buffalo Bills.

The loss overshadowed a 100-yard game by Bills' premier running back O. J. Simpson, who moved into second place on the all-time National Football League rushing list.

Simpson, who ran 32 and two yards for Bills touchdowns, had 110 yards to give him 8,609, which moved him ahead of Jim Taylor and second only to Jim Brown's 12,312.

Grogan ran 10 yards for a touchdown at 1:14 of the fourth quarter to put New England in front, 26-16. The score was set up by a 71-yard kickoff return by Jess Phillips, giving the Patriots the ball at the Bills' 18.

The Bills lost quarterback Joe Ferguson for the season after he was tackled midway through the second period.

CLEVELAND NIPS CHARGERS

Quarterback Brian Sipe connected on 23 of 28 passes for 246 yards and two touchdowns and Larry Poole gained 64 yards after replacing injured Greg Pruitt to spark the Cleveland Browns to a 21-17 victory over the San Diego Chargers.

Sipe, who hit Reggie Rucker with a three-yard scoring toss in the first quarter and capped an 82-yard drive with a 10-yard scoring pass to Oscar Roan in the fourth quarter, set a Cleveland Brown record by hitting on 12 straight passes in the first half.

While the Browns were racing to a 14-0 first-period lead on Rucker's catch and Pruitt's one-yard touchdown run, the Browns defensive unit held the offensive-minded Chargers to only 12 yards rushing and nine yards passing in the first half.

While the Browns were racing to a 14-0 first-period lead on Rucker's catch and Pruitt's one-yard touchdown run, the Browns defensive unit held the offensive-minded Chargers to only 12 yards rushing and nine yards passing in the first quarter before San Diego tied the score, 14-14-at halftime.

GIANTS STAY WINLESS

Franco Harris' one-yard touchdown run and Roy Gerela's 21-yard field goal in the final two minutes of the first half lifted the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 27-0 victory over the winless New York Giants.

Harris added another one-yard TD in the final quarter to give the Steelers their second straight win and improve their record to 3-4. Harris finished the game with 106 yards and his two touchdowns increased his total to nine this season.

Harris broke a scoreless and penalty-ridden first half on his one-yard run with 1:41 left in the half to cap an 80-yard drive.

Gerela added a 28-yard field goal with 3:11 left in the game and Frank Lewis scored on a 16-yard flanker reverse with 29 seconds left.

COLTS WHITEWASH JETS

Bert Jones threw touchdown passes of 41 and 79 yards to Roger Carr and also set up two Toni Linhart field goals in leading the Baltimore Colts to a 20-0 victory over the New York Jets.

Jones gave Baltimore a 7-0 lead in the first quarter with his 41-yarder to Carr and then made it 20-0 early in the final period when he hit Carr from the Colts' 21 after Baltimore had stopped the Jets on the 8.

Carr had five receptions for 210 yards and Jones, the NFL's leading passer, hit 16 of 27 for 297 yards.

Linhart had field goals of 24 and 38 yards, the second set up by Jones' 55-yard pass to Carr in the second period, as the Colts ran their record to 6-1. The Jets are now 1-6.

Andretti wins in Japan; Hunt earns overall title

Mario Andretti drove to victory in the rain-soaked Japanese Grand Prix while James Hunt placed third and Niki Lauda dropped out, allowing Hunt to be crowned the 1976 world championship driver by a single point.

Only 11 of 25 drivers weather out the race before a disappointed crowd of 72,000 on hand expecting a duel between Hunt and Lauda for the ultimate racing title. Lauda had won the Formula One races in Brazil, South Africa, Belgium and Monaco before his near-fatal accident in the Germany race knocked him out of contention for six weeks.

Lauda was also declared the winner of the British race when Hunt was disqualified. Hunt was a winner in Spain, France, West Germany, The Netherlands, Canada and Watkins Glen, New York. He finished with 69 points to 68 for Lauda.

McLendon captures Southern Open

COLUMBUS, Ga. — Mac McLendon, powered by "a positive mental attitude," placed a crucial approach shot two feet from the 18th cup and dunked a birdie putt Sunday for a two-stroke victory over Hubert Green in the $125,000 Southern Open Golf Tournament.

"The weakest part of my game was mental approach," said the Atlanta native, who had bogeyed his final two holes in Saturday's third round.

"I had a positive mental attitude going into it today," McLendon said after the first solo win of his career. "Maybe now I've got my head on straight; it's a thrill, and I'd like to do it again soon."

Green, who teamed with McLendon for the 1974 Walt Disney National Team Championship, said, "Mac played real good golf, especially the first nine holes.

In further links action at Adelaide, Australia, Greg Norman, a 25-year-old Australian playing in his first four-round golf event, won the $43,000 West Lakes Classic by five strokes at the Grange Golf Course.

Orantes takes Spanish net meet

BARCELONA, Spain — Spaniard Manuel Orantes outfought American Eddie Dibbs, 6-1, 2-6, 2-6, 7-5, 6-4, Sunday to win the $100,000 Spanish International Tennis championships for a record-tying third time and capture his third consecutive tournament this month.

Orantes came from behind in the fourth set to pull out the victory that he almost threw away on errors in the second and third sets of the three-hour battle at the Royal Tennis Club.

The victory was worth $15,000 to Orantes and $7,500 to Dibbs.

Elsewhere, Marty Riessen, using consistency to overcome power, defeated Bob Lutz in the men's singles final, 2-6, 6-2, 6-3, Sunday to capture the $6,000 first prize in the $20,000 Western States' Men's pro tennis tournament at Santa Barbara, Calif.

Other news in the sports world...

Standings after the third round of the $60,000 Buzz Fazio Open Bowling Tournament in Battle Creek, Mich. Sunday showed Les Zikes of Palatine in eighth place, three pins behind Carmen Salvino and exactly 100 off the lead owned by Norm Meyers of St. Louis. Zikes had an 18-game pinfall of 3,798 while shooting for the $6,000 first prize to be awarded Monday night.

Statistics from Saturday's heartbreaking 28-25 Northwestern loss to Wisconsin showed up a pair of former Rolling Meadows gridders now with the Wildcats. Steve Breitbeil, subbing for quarterback Randy Dean, completed six of 11 passes for 97 yards and ran eight times for 44 yards including a fourth quarter TD that put his team temporarily ahead. Runningback Pat Geegan carried 21 times for 74 yards and caught three passes for 42 more.

IT'S OVER. Elk Grove's Kathy Amato pauses to reflect, seconds after taking fourth in the 200-yard individual medley Saturday in the Mid-Suburban League conference swimming meet. Prospect's Barb Larsen took first with a time of 2:19.565.

Arlington avenges swimming loss with triumph in conference meet

by BOB GALLAS

Her team had done the unexpected, yet Arlington girls swimming coach Jo Anna Murdoch still didn't believe it.

Her Cards had avenged their only loss of the season, which was administered by the Prospect Knights, by beating Prospect in the conference meet and in doing so, earning a share of the Mid-Suburban League crown along with the Knights. But Murdoch and her team still stood in a small group on the pool deck waiting for the official announcement in disbelief.

Complete results, final standings in scoreboard.

"I thought the breaststroke had wiped us out," said Murdoch, who was still a little awed after a victorious dip in the Buffalo Grove pool Saturday. But rather than being 'wiped out' in the breaststroke, the second to last event of the meet, the Cards had clinched a narrow 272-267 win.

A FIGHT TO the finish, Prospect needed a strong showing in the breaststroke to win. Seeded second and fourth in the event, the Knights had to settle for third and fifth place finishes. Arlington's top breaststrokers, meanwhile, were seeded ninth and 15th, but finished sixth and 11th, to give the Cards unexpected points and the unexpected win.

Admittedly weak in the breaststroke event, Arlington got help from Palatine's Liz Samoore and Rolling Meadows' Michelle Landry, who finished one-two and edged out the Prospect swimmers.

Prospect coach Paul Reeff, who had to settle for a co-conference championship this year after winning it outright for the past two seasons, didn't have to think long about the key point of Saturday's meet. It came, oddly enough, last Thursday.

"It's hard to start a meet 41 points behind and still win, but we came awfully close," said Reeff, whose team finished the season with a perfect dual meet record of 9-0.

REEFF WAS REFERRING to Thursday's diving competition, in which Arlington took first, second and fourth. Prospect, meanwhile, didn't score a single point in diving by failing to place in the top 12. That gave Arlington a 41-point edge over the Knights when conference swimming began Saturday.

"You like to get first outright, but this is better than second place," said Reeff.

And while the Arlington-Prospect battle was the top team attraction at the third-annual meet, the top individual attractions came from the same two schools.

Arlington's power-packed pixie Sue Cripe took three firsts and in doing so set three new conference records. Likewise, Prospect's freshman flash Barb Larsen turned on the speed to take three firsts and set three new conference marks.

LARSEN WON THE 200-IM with a time of 2:19.565 and the butterfly with a time of 1:02.885. She was also was part of Prospect's winning medley relay team which checked in at a record 2:00.0.

Cripe took her firsts in the 50-and 100-yard freestyle events with respective times of 25.324 seconds and 55.089 seconds. Cripe also anchored Arlington's record-setting freestyle relay, which turned in a time of 3:54.539.

Elk Grove came in hard to take an unexpected second place in the freestyle relay, just ahead of Prospect.

All but two of the 11 events were won by either Arlington or Hersey. Hersey's Linda Walkowiak, another freshman to be reckoned with, helped her team take third in the conference meet and final league standings by winning the backstroke in a record time of 1:06.231. Palatine's freshman, Liz Samoore, won the breaststroke in 1:15.776.

The Cards took six firsts to three by the Knights. Maria Falcon won the 200-yard freestyle for Arlington with a time of 2:09.604. Jane Schramm notched the 500-yard freestyle crown for the Cards with a time of 5:49.024.

Warriors paddle to 5th

While Glenbrook North was upsetting Maine South to win the Central Suburban League girls swimming conference meet, the Maine West Warriors were quietly laying claim to fifth place.

The best finish by a Warrior swimmer was fourth place Saturday, but West nevertheless amassed enough points to just miss taking fourth in the meet.

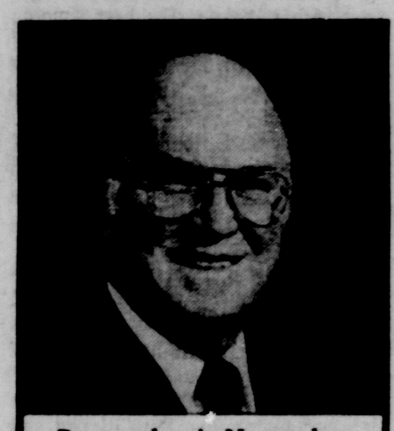

Glenbrook North's narrow 274-270 win over Maine South means that in the final CSL standings, the two teams tie for the conference title, since standings are based on a combination of won-loss record and finish in the league meet. South beat Glenbrook North in League play.

GLENBROOK SOUTH TOOK third with 216 points. Maine East took fourth with 144 points, just ahead of Maine West which had 123 points. Niles East, Niles North and Niles West rounded out the standings in that order.

The Warriors will now prepare for district competition Saturday at Glenbrook South.

Bison, Knights advance golfers

by KEITH REINHARD
Golf Editor

Al Sloat's back nine rally and Dan Krolack's sub lar 19th hole pulled Buffalo Grove up by the bootstraps and into a tie for the championship at the Barrington-hosted sectional golf meet Friday.

The Bison and Prospect both qualified entire teams for the state showdown in Champaign this weekend. Nick Zambole also qualified on an individual basis there while Forest View's Joe Carcerano made the advancement list out of a Falcon-hosted sectional.

Sloat, who carded a 45 on the front mine at the Biltmore layout in Barrington, came back with a 39 over the second half of the course. Krolack meanwhile birdied the difficult 18th ("probably the only golfer there to do it," pointed out his coach Fred Van Iten) and Buffalo Grove pulled into a 328-328 tie with Lake Forest at the finish line.

A RUNNERUP medalist 76 by Bison Mike Marshall — he tied with Zambole for that honor — also helped the Grove cause. Rich Peterson rounded out scoring with an 86.

The Knights, despite a glaring disadvantage, finished in an unusual three-way tie for third place. Waukegan East, New Trier West and Prospect all knotted up at 332 and all will make the trip to the state playoffs.

Scott Spielmann paced George Bork's outfit with a 79 while Mike Dee chipped in with an 81, Dave Fatina an 83 and Bob Lopotko an 89. The Knights played without the services of injured Steve Kurka, giving them one less than the normal six scores to work with.

Forest View was an even bigger bind but coach Tim Schaap accepted their near-miss of a state berth philosophically. "It's still the closest we've ever come and we have a good nucleus of juniors. I'm already looking forward to next year."

THE FALCONS finished at 324, two strokes away from Glenbard East's third place qualifying score of 322. They did it despite one injury withdrawal and a disqualification, leaving Schaap with no extra scores to fall back on.

Rolling Meadows finished eighth at the Mt. Prospect country club-hosted meet, led by Ken Miller's 82. Carcerano fired a 77 to tie for runnerup medalist honors. Joe Husar of Hoffman Estates was one of three golfers tying for a third qualifying spot at 80 but he lost out in a playoff.

Harper upsets Joliet, 14-9

son did an excellent job with it today."

Atkinson tossed a 20-yard pass to Mill for a touchdown. Mill recorded his first Back Flip of the game, second of the season.

On the first play of the fourth quarter Atkinson came to the line, saw a defense he didn't like, and changed the play.

The new play worked perfectly, Atkinson hitting Kevin Kristick for a seven yard score. Kristick, who caught eight passes for 89 yards, deferred to the DBF for the end zone celebration.

JOLIET CAME OUT and did exactly as Eliasik had feared when Ervin broke through a hole on the left side of the line and raced 35-yards for a touchdown.

"We had thought," Eliasik said, "that they would keep scoring and we'd have to throw all day just to keep up."

Joliet moved the ball almost at will in the first half but penalties, turnovers and the Harper defense combined to stop them after their first touchdown.

ATKINSON SET up Harper's first touchdown with a 31-yard pass to Mill, who caught five for 96 yards, and a 17-yard run.

Harper's rushing game featured the old standbys, Butch Allen (nine carries for 40 yards) and Rich Hoevel (12 for 67).

But they also uncovered a new back in Joe Littwin, who rushed six times for 49 yards and caught one pass for 10.

Harper gained 169 yards on the ground.

The defense, except for a 35-yard field goal by Greg Stum, shut the Wolves out in the second half. Aiding that was a fumble recovery by Steve Long and interceptions by Koppari and Ted Tyk.

Mike Dickerson also picked up a fumble in the second quarter after Koppari slammed into Washington and knocked the ball loose.

"This team gave us everything they had," Eliasik said. "They had to win."

Elk Grove's second half outburst earns South title

by JIM O'DONNELL

The Elk Grove Grenadiers put on two faces at Hoffman Estates Saturday.

Unfortunately for the host Hawks, the newly crowned MSL South champ's second disguise was truer to their real nature. The Grens romped to a 34-13 win.

But for the first two quarters, Elk Grove gave no indication that it was the same ballclub that had rolled to a 4-0 MSL mark. Hoffman Estates "bit and scratched" to a 7-7 halftime tie.

"We just blocked and ran better in the second half," Elk Grove coach Don Schnake commented afterwards. "They were obviously up for the game and we weren't, at least not in the first half."

"We had mathematically clinched the title after Conant and Prospect both lost Friday night, and we had an emotionally draining homecoming win over Prospect last week. We didn't say anything special at the half, other than that we had to execute better."

The Grens' scoring explosion started four minutes into the second half with the score knotted at 7-7. Starting on their own eight, Elk Grove blasted 92 yards in six running plays to take a 14-7 lead. Tim Roberts, one of three Gren backs to rush for 100 yards in the game, culminated the drive with a tackle-breaking 20-yard jaunt.

Thirty seconds later, Christmas came early for Elk Grove when defender Bill Dixon flopped on a Hawk fumble on the Hoffman Estates 12. Bill Meyer ran the ball in on successive carries of eight and four yards.

THREE MINUTES after that, Elk Grove took over on the Hawk 31 following a punt. Five rushing downs later, Shawn Murphy pounded over from the four to tally. Dave Champa's extra point shoved Elk Grove into a 27-7 lead.

Ninety seconds onward, the Grens concluded their scoring with a six-play, 47-yard running thrust, Murphy again scoring, this time from the five. Champa's point after gave Elk Grove a 27-point lead, and the outcome was no longer in doubt.

But for the opening 24 minutes, Hoffman Estates gave every indication that the game would be close. Elk Grove scored first, early in the second quarter, when Meyer broke around end for a flashy 58-yard touchdown burst.

Hoffman Estates was a game team, however, and held off Elk Grove until late in the half when they tied the contest. Taking over with three minutes left in the half, the Hawks, often operating out of a shotgun formation, drove 25 yards to the Elk Grove 16. Faced with a fourth-and-nine dilemma and with only 30 seconds left on the clock, Hoffman Estates scored when quarterback John Staback threaded an aerial to Bill Armstrong in the corner of the end zone. Staback added the extra point and Hawk fans were ecstatic.

Arlington girls net district win

Arlington's district title and Jean Rezny's singles championship highlighted weekend play in girls district tennis.

The Arlington Cardinals, fresh from winning the Mid-Suburban League championship, took the Prospect district with 17 points. The host Knights were runnerup with 14 points.

Renzy bumped off Nancy Weber of Maine West 6-3, 2-6, 6-4 to win the singles championship.

ARLINGTON'S singles entries of Leslie Grabitz and Carrie Sears both fell in the semifinals, Grabitz lost a 6-3, 3-6, 6-3 decision to Rezny while Sears lost to Weber 6-1, 6-0.

Both Rezny and Weber will advance to the state tournament this weekend at Arlington.

The Cardinals will have a pair of doubles teams in the finals.

Laura Sanders and Kim Broderick defeated teammates Kris Richey and Janet Haberkorn 6-1, 5-7, 6-1 to take the Prospect doubles title.

SANDERS and Broderick trimmed Rolling Meadows' Cindy Keagle and Jenny Jimenez 7-6,7-5 in the semifinals while Richey and Haberkorn advanced to the finals with a 6-3, 6-4 win over Jeannine Hahn and Lisa Young of Prospect.

Buffalo Grove got stuck in the Glenbrook North district and saw their season come to an end.

Singles hopeful Lisa Smart lost to Lake Forest's Ann Oliver in the semifinals 7-5, 6-3.

OLIVER ULTIMATELY lost the singles championship to Stevenson's Sue Jaeger 7-5, 6-3.

Buffalo Grove's other singles entry, Rhonda Welch, won her first two matches before falling.

Both Bison doubles teams lost in the first round.

Palatine's Cecile Grimwood won a first round match, then fell to Oliver 6-0, 6-0.

One Palatine doubles tandem, Cheryl Hetman and Cathy Dalfonso, won a first round match over Wheeling's Carin Byckowski and Nancy Gautchier before losing to eventual champions Corinne and Victoria Nevinny of Lake Forest.

AT THE CONANT district, which was saved from inclement weather by the Woodfield Racquet Club, Hoffman Estates' Kate Swaya beat girls from Elgin and Dundee before falling in the semifinals to champion Debbie Belton of Elgin Larkin 3-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Schaumburg's Cindy McDole had lost to Belton in the first round.

Schaumburg's other singles player, Cindy Landis, reached the third round before Elgin Academy's Kathy Griner, a singles finalist, upended her 4-6, 6-1, 7-5.

Hoffman Estates' doubles team of Karen O'Malley and Liz Grassl won three straight matches, including a 7-5, 6-2 win over Schaumburg's Sue Huzar and Mary O'Brien, before losing in straight sets to St. Edward's.

Schaumburg's other doubles team, Diane Kretz and Rosemary Deneen, won a first round match and then lost to Elgin 6-4, 6-4.

Miloch survives spill to capture girls' race

by ART MUGALIAN

Less than 200 yards into the conference cross-country finals Saturday, Gail Miloch tumbled to the ground in a heap, and it looked very much like the Mid-Suburban League defending girls champ wasn't going to get up.

But Miloch did get up, she brushed herself off, and finished so far in front of anybody else that some people were surprised to learn she had fallen down.

AS GAIL GOES, so goes Wheeling. And Jim Nagel's Wildcats captured the MSL girls title with a stunning performance, despite Miloch's fall and a nasty spike wound for Wheeling's No. 5 runner, Denise Begrowicz.

"It was probably the best race they've run this year," said Nagel before he had seen the finishing spread but after he knew his girls had won with 33 points.

The stopwatch proved Nagel right.

WHEELING'S TOP five — with Chris Rathje (5th), Betsy Buenzow (8th), Bonnie Buenzow (9th), and Begrowicz (10th) behind Miloch — finished just 56 seconds apart.

"I thought Gail did a great job after she fell down and (freshman Margaret) LaPorte passed her," said Nagel. "She managed to stay in good position until she could work her way back into the lead."

Miloch, a senior who was sixth in the state half-mile last spring, had gone right to the lead Saturday. But while negotiating the first turn, she caught LaPorte's foot on her heal, sending Miloch to the turf.

"I rolled over and I saw all the other runners coming at me," Gail said after the race. "I wasn't even thinking about getting up."

BUT SHE managed to avoid the log-jam of runners bearing down on her and quickly got to her feet.

She finished the 2.3-mile race in 11:50, a full 14 seconds in front of LaPorte, who hung in there longer than a lot of people expected.

Miloch regained the lead almost immediately, but didn't put her final move on LaPorte until three-quarters of the race had been run.

Miloch's teammates were right behind.

WHEELING ALSO won the girls open race.

Palatine was second and Hersey third on varsity.

Maine West runners 3rd

Maine South captured the Central Suburban League cross-country championship Saturday by finishing in a tie in the conference race with Maine East.

By virtue of their victory over Maine East in a dual meet earlier in the week, the Maine South Hawks slipped into first place in the conference.

The Hawks were led by Tim McNamara and Dave Senf, who finished one-two in the conference race. Maine South and Maine East ended up deadlocked in the race with 42 points.

MAINE WEST finished third in the meet and had to settle for third place over-all in the league standings. The Warriors' top finisher was Brian Tolan, who placed third.

In the East Suburban Catholic conference meet Saturday, St. Viator's Dave Efken was a distant second behind John Haberkorn of winning Marist. The Viator junior ran the three-mile Riis Park course in 15:30, 18 seconds in back of Haberkorn.

"Dave looked okay," said his coach, Joe Stehno. "I'm pretty confident that he'll make it downstate."

DISTRICT MEETS leading to the IHSA state championships begin next week.

Other St. Viator runners were Dan Garcia (17th), Rick Hegeberg (20th), Ed Schwabe (24th), and Tim Benge (35th). Due to a mixup at the end of the meet, Stehno wasn't sure what place his team had taken.

Lions earn playoff berth

by DOUG PALM

"You can't expect to get up for every week of the season."

A disappointed coach attempting to explain why his heavily favored team fell victim to defeat following an uninspired performance?

No, not so. Rather it was St. Viator head coach Jim Lyne's terse summation of the Lions' sixth straight victory Sunday, a 27-0 whitewashing of East Suburban Catholic foe St. Joseph.

THE INTENSE expression on Lyne's face as he approached the Lions' team bus outside Proviso West's stadium in Hillside, appeared to be lined with disappointment.

The victory, however, was a monumental one for St. Viator, as the Lions clinched a spot in the post-season IHSA 5-A playoffs. With one ESCC game remaining the Lions also clinched, at least, a tie for the conference championship.

A disappointed coach?

Not really, but Lyne realized that his team had been "a bit flat after a long, hard week of practice following our crucial win against Holy Cross."

Did nothing please Lyne following the Lions' latest success in a 6-1 campaign (5-0 in the ESCC).

"DEFENSIVELY, WE played really well," commented Lyne, as a slight smile caught the corner of his mouth. He had reason to be pleased too, as the Lions held St. Joseph to 50 yards total offense, of which 30 yards came from the hosts' only two pass completions. So dominant was the Viator defense, that their opponents could manage only five total first downs.

If there was an area for close scrutiny by Lyne, it probably was the Viator offense in the opening portions of the first half, but not thereafter.

Stymied by several fumbles and mistakes attributed to the 9-day layoff, the Lions appeared headed for the intermission with a unimpressive 0-0 tie.

St. Viator abruptly chanaged their erring ways, when it scored twice in the remaining 1:30 of the first half to lead, 14-0.

WITH A SECOND and 12 from the 13 yard line John Thompson slanted off of his left tackle for the first score. Following Lou Citro's PAT and kickoff, the Lions Tom Murray recovered a fumble, which set up John Gillen's three-yard run for the second touchdown.

Both added second tallies in the third quarter as Viator finished with 279 yards rushing.

Ask Andy

Wax comes from bee's glands

Andy sends the Encyclopaedia Britannica's 1976 Yearbook of Science and the Future to Denise Klapp, of San Diego, Calif., for her question:

HOW DO BEES MAKE BEESWAX?

The honeybee would be a pitiful creature by itself, but living with thousands of its kind in a colony, miracles happen. A colony of honeybees can survive for years, even though the individual workers may live for only six weeks.

Within the colony are three kinds of bees — the queen, a few hundred drones (males) and thousands of workers. The queen lays the eggs, the drones fertilize the queen, and the busy female workers do all kinds of housekeeping chores. Depending on their age and the particular needs of the hive, they groom and feed the queen, nurse the eggs and larvae, clean the hive, collect pollen and nectar and defend their home against enemies.

The tireless little worker honeybee enters the world ready, willing and able to work. Soon after emerging from its pupal case, it serves as nurse, tending the needs of the queen, the drones and the growing larvaae. When you ealize that each growing larva requires more than a thousand feedings, you get an idea how industrious the workers are.

After two weeks or so, the worker becomes capable of producing beeswax. As the wax is secreted from abdominal glands, the bee scrapes it off with its hind legs and passes it to the front legs. The beeswax is then thoroughly chewed before being molded into cells.

Only the worker can make beeswax and with this magic material the honeybees continuously add to or repair the cells of the honeycomb. The cell walls are only 1/80 of an inch thick, yet they can support 30 times their own wieght. These tiny chambers number about 25 to the square inch, although there are larger cells for raising the drones and the queen.

Mature workers not only collect nectar and pollen, they also search for water, propolis and balm. Propolis comes from the resin of trees, and the bees use it to block holes in the hive and to seal up the corpses of such small intruders as mice which they may have stung to death. Balm, like propolis but more watery, is used to varnish the insides of honeycomb cells before the eggs are laid.

Andy sends a Student Globe to Josette Huang, 13, of Creve Coeur, Mo., for her question:

HOW DID FAMILY NAMES COME ABOUT?

Historians tell us that the Chinese were the first known people to use more than one name. The custom is believed to have originated around 2850 B.C. at the insistence of Emperor Fushi. It is also known that the Romans used more than one name, and although family names, or surnames, occur in the Bible, they were not commonly used. After the fall of the Roman Empire in the 5th century, the use of surnames declined in Europe. It was not until the late 900s that the custom was revived.

At first the use of surnames was confined to nobility or aristocrats to set them apart from the common people. As towns grew, however, and people moved from place to place, the need for precise identification grew. Church records and tax rolls had to be kept accurately, and a single name was not much in the way of identification.

In general surnames fall into four categories. Many came about as an indication of where a person lived — a city or town, or perhaps a lake or mountain. Other surnames might denote a person's occupation or a special skill. A third class of surnames are patronymic — a fancy word meaning that the name was based on the given name of the person's father. For example, Johnson — son of John; or Robertson — son of Robert. Finally, there are surnames that come from nicknames or descriptions of people.

The evening stars are Venus and Mars.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Scorpio.

American polar explorer Richard Evelyn Byrd was born Oct. 25, 1888. This is Australian singer Helen Reddy's 34th birthday.

On this day in history:

• In 1854, in the "Charge of the Light Brigade," some 670 British cavalrymen fighting in the Crimean War attacked a heavily fortified Russian position and were wiped out.

• In 1971, the United Nations admitted China to membership and ousted Taiwan.

• In 1973, President Nixon, under increasingly heavy fire for the Watergate cover-up, attacked the American news media for what he called "hysterical, vicious" reporting.

Major suit tailor-made

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

Jim: "Since the opening notrump is a picture bid, it is easy for partner to know if there is no game, a possible game, a sure game, a possible game, a sure game, a possible slam or a sure slam."

Oswald: "The standard notrump shows a hand with 16 to 18 high-card points and a 4-3-3-3; 4-4-3-2 or 5-3-3-2 distribution. The doubleton, if there is one, is supposed to include the jack or a higher honor, but everyone has been known to violate this rule and occasionally open one notrump with a worthless doubleton."

Jim: "North has nine high-card points and could well raise his partner directly to three notrump. The Stayman convention allows him to respond two clubs. This is an artificial, forcing bid and asks the opener to bid two of a major suit if he has four cards there or to bid two diamonds if he does not have one. This time South rebids two spades and North bids the spade game. West opens the queen of hearts. South loses one heart and the ace of spades and may or may not lose a diamond depending on which way he finesses for the queen. In any event, four spades is safe."

Oswald: "At three notrump South loses three hearts and a spade and needs to locate the queen of diamonds to score nine tricks."

FATHER MEDARD LAZ, formerly at St. James Catholic Church of Arlington Heights, likens the weekend offered by Divorced Disciples to a journey through a long dark tunnel. There are both hope and renewed confidence at tunnel's end.

Marriage failure

Divorced Disciples helps ease the grieving

by GENIE CAMPBELL

Bill's divorce became final Valentine's Day after 18 years of marriage. There was no celebration.

The first 16 years were everything Bill anticipated in marriage. He never contemplated eventual separation. The final two years, however, were an ongoing, emotional trauma.

But it was over, and Bill knew there was no turning back. Yet he wasn't sure how he'd survive recycled into single society. He still felt half a couple, not quite a whole person.

Through his church, Bill learned about Divorced Disciples, an organization offering weekends of concentrated spiritual and inner growth to men and women, divorced or separated, who have come to terms with their new single status but need direction in discovering a viable life of their own.

It is three days worth of group sharing and personal reflection, a workshop of sorts, but without the regimentation of group therapy or counseling. While social clubs for the divorced promote mixing, Divorced Disciples encourages individual healing.

HOLDING WEEKEND weekend retreats periodically throughout the Chicago area, Divorced Disciples was organized by the Rev. Medard Laz of St. Francis Borgia, formerly of St. James Catholic Church in Arlington Heights. He patterned a local chapter off a similar program initiated by a nun in Texas.

Father Laz recognized the need for such "renewal" sessions by the state of the lives of people who sought him out.

"Six people in one day came in to see me looking like they had been run over by a truck. They needed something special to get them back on their feet," said Father Laz.

Socially-oriented single parent clubs were not always meaningful enough. Many had sought counseling during the initial stages of divorce. But that isn't always enough either, believes Father Laz, who subtitles his program "a new beginning."

"We recognize that divorced persons are in a very hurting position. What better place to go than the church with its traditional values and spiritual basis for healing. The grief, the sense of failure is so heavy. Persons think because their marriage failed, they individually failed," he continued.

"BUT DIVORCE IS death of a marriage, not death of a person. You can go on to be a smashing success."

Though sponsored by the Catholic Church, the program is non-denominational. Nevertheless, to many divorced and separated Catholics, it is very comforting to know the church is openly recognizing them and their problems.

Marilyn feels that way. She was recently divorced after 29 years of marriage — years of trying to make it work. She has five children, aged 8 to 28.

"It gave me more confidence," she said after attending the weekend. "I realized there were still things for me to do and accomplish — that I could make it on my own if I only put forth the effort. That's when I got my second part-time job."

And Pat with 11 children, who assisted Father Laz in setting up the first workshop because after four years of separation she was more or less back on her feet, experiences "more personal growth for myself if I help others find it."

"I'M HAPPY WITH my decision. I wish it could have been different, but I have no guilt feelings," she said.

Not feeling bitter, guilty or sorry for oneself are hurdles crossed by Divorced Disciples.

The weekend is presented by three divorced persons and a priest, beginning Friday evening and continuing until late Sunday afternoon. Much of the program's format is based on Marriage Encounter, a program for married couples.

"The same dynamics are used for singles," said Father Laz.

Each divorced or separated person is invited to attend the workshop weekend though those with time on their side will find it much more rewarding.

"If you lost your husband only two weeks ago, the grief is still too bad," said Father Laz.

"Yet grieving is normal to life whether it's divorce, the death of a parent or child, or even losing a job," he added.

"AND THE symptoms are much the same — excessive drinking, watching TV all the time, becoming a workaholic. We take a look at each one of the symptoms and find out how each member of the team overcame it."

Though newly singled people are urged to talk and share their feelings and experiences, Divorced Disciples is not meant as a social outing. Much time is taken up with personal reflection and those attending the weekend session are given paper and pencil to put all their private thoughts into writing.

"Re-entering the world as live persons — learning to forgive and trust people again — is all a part of it," said Father Laz, who compares divorce to death with one major exception: During death people gather around. In divorce, everyone walks away. "No one is there for the wake of a marriage," he said.

Yet as with a death in the family, Father Laz said, people undergo the same grieving process as explained by Dr. Elizabeth Kubler Ross in her book "Death and Dying." The steps — denial, resentment,

All of us folks want positive 'strokes'

by ELEANOR RIVES

Twenty-four women who meet regularly an evening each month got to know each other much better at their October meeting.

The women, varying in age from young-marrieds to grandmothers, are all members of the Northwest Suburban Alumnae group of Chi Omega Sorority. And the woman who showed them how much they had in common was Sandra Blumenshine of Arlington Heights, an in-training member of the International Transactional Analysis Association.

As featured speaker for the evening, Sandy plucked the title of her subject, "How to Get What You Really Want," out of the air, leaning a little on a quote from Cat Stevens; "Get what you want to, if you want, 'cuz you can get anything."

THE PREMISES she put forth are ones that have made her own life rich and fulfilling, psychological insights from current thinking in transactional analysis (TA). Hardly a woman had not heard of TA, but few knew how to apply its principles to meet their problems and improve their lives.

Sandy pointed out that every person is a unique being, every person has problems, and a great many persons wear themselves out trying in one way or another to get what they want.

What do we really want?

"Strokes," said Sandy. 'Recognition, appreciation, love, hugs, kisses." A person may manipulate others, act extra nice, do extra work, get sick or have tremendous crises in life trying to get strokes. "But the answer is within ourselves," she said.

SHE DESCRIBED the three ego states within us: the Parent, who judges and moralizes; the Child, full of feelings, creativity, energy; the Adult, our local, rational computer. We hear these voices and decide whether to accept or reject their messages, depending on our supply of strokes.

And what is a stroke?

It is recognition of another's presence — a wink, a nod, a "hello," or actual physical touch. Even a kick is a stroke, though a negative one. Strokes may be divided into four types:

- The Warm Fuzzies—smiles, hugs, sincere compliments that make you feel "okay".
- The Cold Pricklies—insults, a look of disgust, a put-down—things that make you feel "not okay."
- The Warm Pricklies—a too-tight hug or handshake, criticism given in a friendly way ("I see you're on time for a change.")
- The Cold Fuzzies—remarks that imply, "I'm not okay, but you are." ("Take the car, I can walk." Or "Have a good time, don't worry about me.")

STROKING AND touching are important dimensions to child-rearing, according to Sandy. As grown-ups, we are no different than babies. "We need stroking so badly that sometimes we arrange our lives to get the same strokes as when we were small," she said.

To illustrate this theory, Sandy suggested the entire group of women relax, close their eyes and think back to childhood, concentrating on a time at four or five years old when they might have just come into the house from outdoors.

"Who was there? Were they talking about you? Suppose you overheard them accidentally. What was the nicest thing they might have been saying about you? The worst?"

THE ANSWERS WERE significant.

"They might have said I was selfish and a poor loser," said one young woman. "I still hate to lose."

Another woman piped up, "I was negative then and I'm negative now. I want to be a more positive person." She went on to explain that she had very little time to herself.

Sandy suggested that she devote a half hour each day entirely to herself, and report to the Chi Omega group at its next meeting. She agreed.

"I was terribly adventurous as a child," burst out another member. "Always running away into other neighborhoods. I had a deep feeling of fear when my father threatened to spank me with a belt. And he did it. But it wasn't as terrible as I thought it would be."

SAID SANDY, "Fear and excitement are kissing cousins. Running away gave you lots of strokes."

"I'm still running around too much," the woman added. "I know I should slow down."

Sandy suggested, "If you want to change, figure out how you can get positive strokes without running."

Not uncommon in the group was the predicament of women whose husbands travel, leaving them home alone with young children. Sandy told them, "Some of our most stroke-deprived people today are mothers such as you. But you have the power to do something if you want to."

To every woman there, she added, "You are an important person. Stop hassling yourself, identify what you need and get what you want."

SANDRA BLUMENSHINE practices what she preaches. Her life exemplifies the results of her own TA teachings. After 10 years of marriage and three children, she returned to college on a part-time basis — to Kendall, to Oakton, to Harper — finally attaining her B.A. degree from Northeastern Illinois University. She has been in supervisory TA training for the past two years, and is working for a master's degree in social work.

Clubs or groups who wish to contact her regarding speaking engagement may call her at 255-9578.

Before you cut, check the nap of fabric

Dear Readers:

If you are a beginner or a fairly inexperienced sewer, before you begin your fall project remember to check the nap of the fabric. Nap, in this case, means that the pattern pieces must all be placed in the same direction.

You must carefully examine your fabric: Is it a one-way plaid? Does it have a print that must be cut in one direction? Does it actually have a nap such as corduroy or velvet, or is it a knit?

Ordinarily, all knits should be placed in the same direction; this is not as important with your matte jerseys as it is with sweater-type knits. Coatings also have nap and they must be cut the correct way.

If the coat fabric is camel hair, cashmere, a wool blend with hair, or any fabric that has a different texture, depending on the direction you stroke, be sure these fabrics are cut like fur. The fabric must feel smooth from the shoulder down to the hem.

Velvets and corduroys are often cut in the opposite direction, or against the nap, to produce a deeper and richer color — but this is a matter of preference.

IF YOUR PATTERN doesn't have a layout for fabric with or without nap, open the cutting instruction sheet and check to see how much extra fabric you will need to cut everything in one direction. Usually, it takes about one-half yard more fabric to allow for the nap, but this also depends on the fullness of the skirt.

I can't stress nap too strongly. It's the one giveaway tip to that "homemade look" instead of the custom-made look. Check your fabric and pattern layout before purchasing fabric and actually cutting it. You can correct almost any error if you discover it before you get your scissors in your hand; after that, it's almost impossible to correct.

This week's winner of my personalized set of gold blazer buttons is Mrs. Edward Schairer, 3559 Vista St., Philadelphia, Pa. 19136.

Her winning tip is: "I have taken over the mending for my daughter's four active youngsters. Instead of putting unsightly patches on pants, dungarees or T-shirts, I use appliques. I sew fruits, animals, flowers or whatever on their clothes. It's fun and delights the children."

Please send me your favorite little sewing tip. Perhaps you will be one of the lucky winners of my beautiful gold blazer buttons. Send your letters to Eunice Farmer, in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.

Dear Eunice Farmer,

I have just finished an Ultra Suede skirt, but am heartsick because I can't get the holes out of the fabric from where I ripped out some stitching. I used a ballpoint needle as the shop instructed me to do. — Betty N.

Dear Betty,

Unfortunately, a lot of instructions for this marvelous fabric are inaccurate and often written by someone who is writing in theory only and hasn't put her instructions to a true test.

This fabric should never be stitched with a ballpoint needle. The needle has actually punctured the fabric and it can't be erased.

I HAVE FOUND that a size 11 needle (or a size 70 in a European needle) works perfectly and can be ripped out without showing — provided your stitch length isn't too short. I would recommend 10 to 12 stitches per inch and use a fine thread.

Never use the heavy buttonhole twist thread for machine top-stitching; use your regular thread. It's always best to test any stitching or interfacing technique if you are not sure of the effect on a new fabric.

Dear Eunice Farmer,

What is a fabric called panne velvet? I have seen some evening garments made of this fabric in the fashion magazines. Our stores don't carry it? — Virginia J.

Dear Virginia,

Panne velvet is an old fabric that has made a great return. It's a soft, satiny, luscious velvet and is used primarily for dressy clothes because of the dressy "touch-me" quality. I have seen panne velvet in dinner dresses jump suits and halter dresses. There is very little it can't be used for, but it is usually a knit fabric and rather soft so you wouldn't use it for anything that has a constructed look.

PANNE VELVET is very easy to work with — in fact, much easier than real velvets because it doesn't slip when stitching. It must be cut with the nap running smooth from the shoulder down to the hem and everything must be cut in one direction. Be careful when pressing: Press lightly with steam on the wrong side. Never use heavy pressing or you will mar the lovely sheen of the fabric.

Today, panne velvet comes in some prints as well as luscious colors. It's fairly inexpensive, usually about 60 inches wide and about $10 per yard. I hope many of you will try it; it's pure fun. If you have too many bulges, better leave it to the skinnier gals. It has a tendency to reveal one's figure. Ready-made clothes of this marvelous fabric retail from $100 to more than $300. By sewing, you can have the same glamour for a fraction of that cost.

The doctor says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Losing water won't take off any fat

I am 5 feet 3, weigh 125 pounds and am 19 years old. I know nothing about fluid pills and would like your advice on taking them. I understand that too much salt will cause one to retain excess water, thus making waterweight.

I would like to cut down on my enormous amount of salt intake but can't digest unsavored food. I would like to lose between five and 10 pounds of water or fat. I can stay on a diet for only a short length of time, thus allowing myself only time to lose water, not fat. If I took fluid pills, would I be able to see a weight reduction on the scales from fluid loss and not be totally dehydrated? Also, would this help reduce cellulite in my upper legs?

Your body is a wonderful machine. It is so constructed that it eliminates any water that you don't need for general health. The only exception is when you have a medical problem that causes you to retain salt, or in women before the menstrual periods. Female hormones tend to cause the body to retain salt and water.

Losing water is not helpful unless you have an abnormal accumulation for the reasons I mentioned. I presume you really want to get rid of some fat over your thighs and elsewhere. You do not lose that by eliminating water.

Many people are impressed when they step on the scales and see they have lost pounds. But when it's water loss, it is deceptive and as soon as that person recovers from the "wash-out" effect of water pills or gets back on a healthy diet the water that nature intended you to have will return.

Loss of needed water causes people to have headaches, feel tired and makes them more susceptible to heat stroke in hot weather.

AND I DON'T think much of the propaganda about cellulite. The whole concept is more fraud than fact. Fat is fat wherever it is. The way to get rid of it is to go on a good program, exercise and restrict your calories.
4-7,WeightLosiies.

To help you do this I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet. Others who want this diet plan can send 50 cents for it with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Just send your letter to me in care of Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

One year ago I was told I had cataracts at an early age. I am 46 now. I've worn glasses only for reading the last two years.

I would like to know details on contact lenses for cataracts. I admit I am a vain person and would like to know if I would look as ugly as a person wearing glasses for cataracts.

Go see your eye doctor. Many patients who have had cataracts removed wear contact lenses. You would never know they wear them

Deciding whether or not a person can wear contact lenses is an individual matter. Contact lenses after a cataract operation usually cause less distortion of the image than regular glasses.

And not everyone thinks glasses are ugly. Beauty is in the eye of the beholder. But if it is important to you, it is worth considering the cosmetic aspects. I am convinced that people who think they look nice are happier and healthier.

Try silver polish first to clean tarnished dish

Dear Dorothy: Received a silver compote as a gift and was told not to clean it with any kind of silver polish — but wash with warm, soapy water, then rinse and dry. However, it has become tarnished and I'm wondering what to do.—Mrs. Chester F. Akridge

Sounds as if the piece has been lacquered and that washing has dislodged some of the finish. Try using any of the regular silver polishes. If it doesn't clean up the piece you'll have to try what the experts do — use either acetone or lacquer thinner with caution. Once the lacquer is off, one can treat a piece like any other piece of silverplate.

Dear Dorothy: Have you ever done a rump roast to the rare stage in an open pan? —Laura Werbe

I still do. If it's well-marbled (almost prime), it is seasoned and put in the oven at 400 degrees and with a thermometer stuck in it. If it's a choice cut, it gets a few holes poked in it, is sprinkled with a little meat tenderizer, and left on the counter for 30 minutes. It, too, takes only about 40 minutes to get to the rare stage. Rump also makes a wonderful pot roast.

Dear Dorothy: Just discovered a fun way to keep up with house plant cuttings. Found myself with an abundance of canisters from powdered mixes. Washed them, punched holes in the bottoms, and covered each with contact paper (burlap looks great), snapped the plastic covers on the bottoms, then filled the containers with stones and dirt. Now I have great little flower pots for all the cuttings. Happy planting! — Peggie Einhorn bargaining, resignation and finally acceptance — are explored during the weekend.

There is spiritual strengthening, too, though no one faith is stressed.

" 'IF GOD IS beautiful and marriage is beautiful, then why did I wind up at the end of the alley? people will ask me,' " said Father Laz.

"God didn't will it. We present concrete examples showing how God cares about them, how he hasn't abandoned them. There a lot of tears shed throughout the weekend, but there's also a lot of shared joy," he continued.

"The church has tremendous resources. People have beautiful memories of being in church — baptisms and marriage. Single people should be able to turn to the church, too, for healing and life."

About his own commitments and identification Father Laz said, "I'm not there to preach. But I can still identify. I can talk about my own loneliness. There are times when I don't have anyone to talk deeply with. I have my own struggles as a single person."

• • •

The next weekend sponsored by Divorce Disciples is Oct. 29-31 at Holy Spirit Covenant in Techny. Another will take place Dec. 3-5 at St. Joseph's Retreat House in Des Plaines. For reservations and further information, readers may contact Father Laz, 625-1119. Cost of the weekend is minimal.

Notice of Public Hearing

Notice is hereby given that the Zoning Board of Appeals of the Village of Wheeling will hold a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. on the 16th day of November, 1976, at the municipal building in the Village of Wheeling, to act on the petition of American National Bank & Trust Company, as Trustee under Trust No. 412, owner of record, (beneficiaries: Kermit E. Pinkerman and Frances M. Pinkerman as joint tenants with rights of survivorship), which seeks variances from Sections 19.56.060, 19.56.070 and 19.80.030 D, to permit construction of a building addition of 17,930 square feet in size to a non-conforming building; to reduce the front yard setback from 50' to 35' from the property line; to allow parking for employees within the yard area adjacent to Harvester Court; and to allow the existing nonconforming building to continue to be used and remain in its present location, in the I-2 Industrial District zoning classification on the following described property:

Lot 1 (except the East 15.25 feet thereof) (1) in Elm Development Corporation Resubdivision of the North 461.0 feet of the South 861.0 feet (except the West 495.0 feet thereof) of Block 3 in Herzog's First Industrial Subdivision of the part of the East ½ of Section 10, Township 42 North, Range 11 East of the Third Principal Meridian, in Cook County, Illinois.

The above described property is located at 574 South Wheeling Road, Wheeling, Illinois 60090.

All interested persons are invited to attend this public hearing and will be given an opportunity to be heard. The Zoning Board of Appeals will also give careful consideration to all written correspondence concerning this hearing.

Notice to Bidders

BOARD OF LIBRARY DIRECTORS OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ILLINOIS CONSTRUCTION OF AN ADDITION AND ALTERATIONS TO THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS MEMORIAL LIBRARY

The Board of Library Directors of the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, will receive sealed proposals for the construction of an addition and alterations to the Arlington Heights Memorial Library, 500 North Dunton Street, Arlington Heights, Illinois, until 2:00 p.m. on the 16th day of November, 1976, at the office of the Executive Librarian of the Arlington Heights Memorial Library, 500 North Dunton, Arlington Heights, Illinois.

All proposals received will be publicly opened and read aloud at the Arlington Heights Memorial Library at 2:00 p.m. on November 16, 1976.

The contract documents, including plans and specifications, are on file and available for inspection at the office of the Village Clerk of the Village of Arlington Heights in the Village Hall and at the office of Nicol, Nicol, Chaney & Vanek, Inc., architects for the project, at 332 S. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

Copies of the contract documents, including plans and specifications required for review or bidding purposes, may be obtained from the Village Clerk or from Nicol, Nicol, Chaney & Vanek, Inc., by depositing with the Village Clerk the sum of $50 for each set of general contractors documents and $75 for each set of specialty contractors documents.

The full amount of the deposit for each set of documents will be refunded to each bidder who submits a formal proposal to the Board of Library Directors and who also returns the plans (and specifications on additional sets) in good condition within fifteen (15) days after the opening of bids.

A certified check or cashiers check drawn on a solvent bank in the State of Illinois, payable without condition to the Board of Library Directors of the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, or a bidder's bond in a form satisfactory to the said Board, in an amount not less than five per cent (5%) of the bid shall be submitted with each proposal.

No bid shall be withdrawn after the opening of proposals without the consent of the Board of Library Directors for a period of thirty (30) days after the scheduled time for closing bids.

A contract will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The Board of Library Directors reserves the right to reject any or all proposals and to waive any informalities in bidding. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory performance bond in the full amount of the contract and a labor and material payment bond.

The successful bidder will be required to comply with all applicable federal regulations and executive orders pursuant to the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and 1968, and with all other federal statutes, regulations and executive orders.

No proposal will be considered unless the party making it shall furnish evidence satisfactory to the Board of Library Directors of his ability to do the work and that he has the necessary pecuniary resources to fulfill the conditions of the contract provided such contract shall be awarded him.

In general, the improvements upon which proposals are requested are: A one-story addition to the existing library building with a partial basement and parking underneath, consisting of approximately 39,000 square feet of floor space, together with alterations to the existing library building.

Plans and specifications for this project were prepared by Nicol, Nicol, Chaney & Vanek, Inc., 332 S. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

Dated at Arlington Heights this 22nd day of October, 1976.

Order

On September 17, 1976, McAllister Equipment Company filed an application herein for approval of a Restricted Landing Area-Heliport located in Des Plaines, in part of the East 458.50' of the South 785.00' of the Northeast ¼ of Section 36, Township 41 North, Range 11 East of the Third Principal Meridian, Cook County, Illinois.

After examination of said application and inspection of the site of said proposed restricted landing area-heliport, the Division on September 21, 1976, served notice on interested parties of its intention to enter an Order approving said application, pursuant to Section 60 ot the Illinois Aeronautics Act.

All objections to and comments on the subject matter of said order having been considered by the Division and the notice served as aforesaid.

IT IS, THEREFORE, ORDERED BY THE DIVISION OF AERONAUTICS as follows:

(1) That the above entitled application be, and it is hereby approved.

(2) That a Certificate of Approval of said restricted landing area-heliport be issued to the said McAllister Equipment Company after sufficient completion thereof as proposed by the application to comply with all minimum requirements of this Division for a restricted landing area-heliport.

(3) That no operations from said restricted landing area-heliport are authorized by this Order until the Certificate of Approval has been issued hereunder.

(4) That this Order shall become null and void unless acted upon and the construction authorized is completed within one (1) year from the effective date hereof, unless the applicant shall have applied for, and received from the Division an extension of time for completion for good cause shown.

(5) That this Order shall take effect and become operative twenty (20) days after the service thereof.

(6) That no landings or takeoffs shall be made at said restricted landing area-heliport unless and until radio communications have been established with the Airport Traffic Control Tower at O'Hare International Airport.

(7) That this Order and any Certificate of Approval issued pursuant thereto, are not intended to and do not pre-empt, waive, suspend or modify any zoning regulations, building code requirements or local ordinances adopted by any local governmental body having jurisdiction to control and impose land use restrictions.

(8) That the terms and provisions hereof are made expressly contingent upon any changes, modifications or additions in the location, character and orientation of the utilities herein concerned, if any, as the same may affect the effective measurements of said restricted landing area-heliport, and as the same may be proposed by and under timely notice by the owners of such utilities submitted to and approved by the Division.

Staff poll shows Frank leading Crane in 12th

by WANDALYN RICE

Democratic congressional candidate Edwin Frank Saturday said a recent poll taken by his staff shows him beating U.S. Rep. Phillip M. Crane R-12th.

Frank, speaking to guests at the annual Palatine Township Regular Democratic Organization dinner-dance, said the poll shows that "right now we are leading Crane by 8.5 percentage points."

Frank said the telephone survey of 272 persons taken by his campaign workers also shows Democratic Presidential candidate Jimmy Carter 2 percentage points ahead of President Ford and Democrat Michael Howlett trailing James Thompson for the governor's race.

Frank said the poll included persons in Palatine, Inverness, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Elk Grove Village.

FRANK SAID he will defeat Crane despite the campaign contributions Crane receives from nationally prominent conservatives. "The only thing I have to offer is myself," Frank said. "I've demonstrated my ability to represent people during this campaign."

Palatine Democratic Committeeman Walter Soroka also said Saturday the organization has been getting a number of former members of the Palatine Democratic Club to join the organization.

The club is loyal to Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley which has been the rival to the regular organization in Palatine Township for several years.

Soroka said the former club members returning to his organization "have been disillusioned with what's happening in the club. They know we're an open organization and there have been a lot of people who understand the club is not telling the truth about the Democratic Party."

Obituaries

John H. Burnett

Services for John H. (Jack) Burnett, 70, of Arlington Heights and public relations and promotion director for Holiday on Ice Inc., will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home, 2000 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights.

He died Saturday in Americana Health Care Center, Arlington Heights.

Mr. Burnett, who worked for Santa's Village, Dundee, and the Chicago Packers and Zephyrs National Basketball Assn. teams before joining Holiday on Ice, was director of sports for WGN and WBBM radio stations in the 1930s and 40s. Schaumburg Mattress Factory

HOW TO SHOP FOR A MATTRESS

1. Pay attention to all the radio and TV ads by the big name manufacturers. Each one will tell you what famous medical group or orthopedic society or surgical committee designed that particular mattress.

2. Go to a retail store and find the famous Bleepy "This-A-Pedic" or the Blurpo "Bumpy Rest" and poke it with your fingers. Use all four fingers because you can't really tell how it feels by poking with just two fingers.

3. By all means do not lie down on it because you might be a little embarrassed to have people see you lying on a mattress in a retail store. Besides, that way you can get a bigger surprise the first time you try to sleep on it. Anyway, if it's one of those Pedic kinds, the salesman would probably just as soon you wouldn't find out how hard it really is.

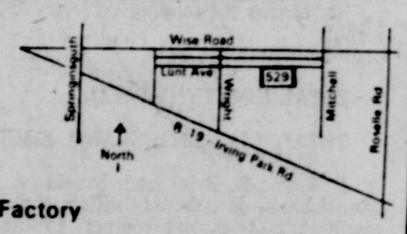

4. Don't act shocked when the salesman tells you the King size set is only $500.00. After all, the super deluxe model is only $50.00 or $100.00 more.

5. Before you make a final decision, go to the Schaumburg Mattress Factory. We have a small showroom in the front of the factory, and we want our customers to lie down on our comfortable mattresses. And if you just happen to doze off for awhile, we won't even bother you — until closing time of course.
